Leader Sees Civil Rights Bill Passage

McCormack Looks For House Action By End Of Month

WASHINGTON (U)—The House Rules Committee resumes its hurried consideration of the civil rights bill today, but Democratic Leader McCormack predicted the House will pass it about the end of May.

McCormack said in an interview he expects the Rules Committee to finish its hearings this week. He said he will schedule the bill for House consideration as soon as practicable thereafter, considering the parliamentary situation.

Chairman of the Rules Committee is Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.), an outspoken opponent of the measure who has said he is in no hurry to act on it.

Southern strategy in both the House and the Senate has been to try to kill the bill by delay. The Senate version still is awaiting action by the Judiciary Committee.

Discussing the outlook for civil rights legislation on a radio program last night, McCormack said he is confident the present Congress will pass such a bill, but that the Senate may not act until next year.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said, meanwhile, he will continue to try to attach a "right-to-work" amendment to the Senate bill despite the opposition of the new Democratic Advisory Council.

And as for the statement of Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California that adoption of the amendment would "clearly kill" the civil rights measure, McClellan said:

"It would be a service to the country if it killed the bill."

Guided Missiles Will Be Sent To Chiang's Bastion

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—The United States will bolster the Chinese Nationalist bastion of Formosa with Matador guided missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads, the U. S. Embassy said today.

The announcement said the U. S. and Nationalist governments had agreed on the stationing of a missile-equipped U. S. Air Force unit on Formosa.

It added that for months the Chinese Communists, who have vowed to take Formosa, have been building up their mainland offensive capabilities opposite the island.

Mail Says Princess Plans To Marry British Pianist

LONDON (U)—The London Daily Mail said today it had learned Swedish Princess Margaretha plans to marry her British suitor of noble lineage but only $125-a-week income.

The Mail said the beautiful, 22-year-old granddaughter of King Gustaf VI and Queen Olga of Sweden, who has been engaged to wait two years, a 25-year-old nephew of the Earl of Home, writes advertising copy by day and plays the piano for a hotel cocktail hour.

The advertising agency pays him 15 pounds ($42) a week, the hotel twice as much.

Italian Government 'Patch Up' Started

ROME (U)—President Giovanni Gronchi today began the search for a politician to patch together a new government from Italy's moderate center front.

The center coalition's collapse forced Premier Antonio Segni to resign last night after 22 months in office.

Seen as strong possibilities were two prominent lawyers, both members of Segni's Christian Democratic party. They are Adone Zoli, finance minister in the old government, and Guido Gonella, minister without portfolio under Segni.

Another Christian Democrat premier appeared certain. Although short of a majority in the 390-member Chamber of Deputies, the party's 262 seats are 119 more than the second-place Communists.

Segni's teetering four-party coalition of Christian Democrats, Social Democrats (anti-Communist Socialists), Republicans and Liberals fell apart last night when Vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat and the three other Socialist ministers pulled out of the Cabinet.

Italy's Western-aligned foreign policy was not an issue. The four parties had been bickering for months over domestic issues. The Republicans quit the Cabinet two months ago—saying they wanted a freer hand—but continued to vote with the government on major issues in Parliament.

The Social Democrats, headed by Saragat, had been threatening to quit for some time so they could reunite with the bigger left-wing Socialist party and campaign under one banner in future elections.

It seemed unlikely, however, that Saragat would press for a general election soon.

GM Refuses Reuther Bid

DETROIT (U)—General Motors Corp. today rejected a United Auto Workers bid for a joint union-management study of a proposed shorter work week in the auto industry prior to the opening of new contract talks in 1958.

Louis G. Seaton, a GM vice president, said in a letter to UAW President Walter P. Reuther, that the union proposal "means that you are actually seeking to begin negotiations nearly a year ahead of time on a demand which has already been established by your union as its 'next major goal.'"

Reuther has proposed a shorter work week with increased take-home pay.

Reds Shifting Baltic Fleet

OSLO (U)—Authoritative Norwegian sources said today the Soviet Union is shifting warships from the Baltic Sea because it fears the vessels could be bottled up there easily in the event of war.

The Reds also were said to feel their big Baltic naval bases might be too vulnerable to attack-bombers.

Soviet Leader Gets Threats In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (U)—Soviet President Klementi Y. Voroshilov got a mixed reception yesterday on his arrival in Jakarta for a 12-day state visit.

There was a 21-gun salute, a crowd of 100,000 and a correct official welcome at the airport. But later a near riot developed outside the presidential palace where demonstrators threatened to mob the Russian leader.

"Better go home than give this man a hearty welcome," shouted members of the crowd. Posters bearing Voroshilov's picture were torn down. Police were rushed in to restore order.

Many persons have criticized the visit at a time when Indonesia is going through a serious economic and political crisis. President Sukarno, who visited the Soviet Union last November, rejected the criticism.

Voroshilov came here from a tour of Communist China. He told the airport crowd "imperialist forces" are increasing world tension and hampering cooperation in economic and cultural fields.

Detention Home Fall Kills Two Girls, 15

BOSTON (U)—Two 15-year-old girls fell to their deaths today from the fourth story of a detention home, the House of the Good Shepherd, a Roman Catholic institution.

Police said the girls may have been trying to flee and may have fallen from a ledge outside the window.

Soviet Plan In Economy Changes Set

Many Government Agencies Will Be Cut, Consolidated

MOSCOW (U)—The Supreme Soviet convened today to approve a sweeping decentralization of Soviet economy involving everything from vast industrial enterprises to corner groceries.

Russia's equivalent of Parliament opened its special session in the Kremlin's marble-pillared former throne room of the Czars. The Soviet put the economic plan at the top of its agenda.

During deliberations in the next few days the legislators will approve the administrative resolution drafted by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. The plan completely revamps the monolithic economic structure the Kremlin built up over the last 40 years.

Decentralization Set

Until now, the Soviet economy has been directed by several dozen big ministries in Moscow. The new plan calls for a territorial system of organization. The central government will still set the broad lines of policy and planning, control prices and wages, allocate scarce materials and check on production by each region.

But economic councils of the various administrative-economic regions of the Soviet Union will take over planning for local production and supervision of local performance, cutting many of the administrative strings that now lead back to Moscow.

The plan's approval by the more than 1,500 members of the Supreme Soviet is certain. But the plan itself will take months and possibly years to realize fully. When and if it is completely achieved, it will give a new face to communism in operation in the Soviet Union. Many government ministries ultimately will be abolished or have their functions trimmed.

This plan represents the biggest revision of Soviet economy since Stalin collectivized the farms nearly 30 years ago. Since Khrushchev announced it in March, it has been the major topic of discussion in Communist party groups, factories and institutions of higher learning and by the press and radio. Some differences of opinion have developed over details but not over the conception as a whole.

To Aid Distribution

Khrushchev hopes among other things that his plan will improve and rationalize the country's distributive system, always a great problem in a nation of this size and with this type of economy.

Other items on the agenda include a report from the Communist Party Central Committee and the routine ratification of decrees of the Presidium issued since the Supreme Soviet last met Feb. 5.

The agenda did not list a six-hour speech or any foreign policy speech.

Britain Offers Bomb Curb Plan

LONDON (U)—Britain has put forward a long-range plan calling for registering, limiting and finally stopping nuclear explosions.

An American spokesman declined to comment immediately on the British proposal made yesterday to the U. N. Disarmament Subcommittee.

The British plan suggested that Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union immediately draft an agreement for "advance registration" with the United Nations of nuclear test explosions. It also suggested "limited international observation" of all nuclear tests.

Mrs. Abel is a widow with five children—four daughters and one son. She has six grandsons.

Spy For FBI Testifies At State Inquiry

BALTIMORE, May 7 (U)—An articulate steel worker, a spy within the Communist party, today testified that the party is seeking to promote its revolutionary aims through heavy industry's working force.

"The Communist party considers that the group in society that will carry forth its revolutionary aims is the working class," said Clifford C. Miller Jr., an employee of the big Bethlehem Steel Sparrows Point plant here.

Miller was the first witness as a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee opened a three-day hearing here on Communist infiltration of heavy industry.

He identified himself as an undercover agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Miller said that the party, believing that the working class will bring about the ultimate overthrow of the government, looks to heavy industry because of the large concentration of workers.

In Baltimore, he said, it concentrated on the Bethlehem Steel plant because it has the largest numbers of workers.

Miller identified a long list of persons he said he had known as Communists in the 1940-49 period. Asked by committee counsel Richard Arens for an evaluation of the Communist conspiracy at this time, Miller said, "In my opinion—and I've had intimate knowledge of the conspiracy—it is more menacing today than it has ever been... but it is almost entirely underground."

The 38-year-old Miller, a native of Charleston, W. Va., acknowledged that he was a Phi Beta Kappa at West Virginia University from which he was graduated in 1943.

He said he came to Baltimore in 1943 and went to work for Bethlehem Steel two years later.

Former Queen Has Smallpox

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—Ex-Queen Narriman of Egypt is sick with smallpox in her Beirut apartment, her attorney said today. He added she apparently caught it on a visit to Saudi Arabia.

Narriman, former wife of ex-King Farouk, has been living outside Egypt since she walked out on her second husband, a Cairo physician, late in 1954.

Dayton Plant Hit By Blast, One Casualty

DAYTON, Ohio (U)—Two explosions sent a wild, brilliant display of fireworks soaring 500 feet into the sky, leveled two storage sheds and set off fires that caused an estimated $35,000 to $40,000 in damages at the United Fireworks Co. last night.

A fireman who suffered a minor leg injury was the only casualty reported.

It was the 12th explosion at the plant since the company was founded in 1931. Twelve persons have perished in the blasts. Three died in an explosion in April 1954, and the last victim was killed in December 1955.

Firemen said a storage shed filled with aerial fireworks blew up last night. Later, after firemen had already started fighting the blaze, a second explosion completely demolished a nearby shed housing powder and other explosives.

Walter Blecher, owner of the company, estimated damage at between $35,000 and $40,000. None of the 200 employees were on duty at the time of the explosions.

Macmillan Goes To Bonn Session

BONN (U)—British Prime Minister Macmillan flew to Bonn today for a sweeping three-day review of British-German relations with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Macmillan was the first British prime minister to visit a German government in more than 18 years, since the late Neville Chamberlain went vainly seeking "peace in our time" from Hitler at Munich in 1938.

Senators Set Quiz On Fast Tax Voiding

WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of the Senate Finance Committee says today on a bill to curtail the present broad program of fast tax writeoffs for defense-connected industries.

Humphrey was called before the Senate Finance Committee as the initial witness on the bill. Humphrey has indicated previously his sympathy with the general purposes of the proposal, sponsored by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.).

Byrd does not seek to cut off the program entirely, but to limit its benefits to companies making military items used directly by the Defense Department or Atomic Energy Commission.

The fast writeoff privilege permits a company to deduct from its income for tax purposes part or all of the cost of a new plant in five years. Normally this would be written off in much smaller amounts over a 20-year period or longer.

In theory, the company pays the full tax eventually, unless the corporation rates are cut in the meantime, but some congressional experts contend that actually some companies never would catch up.

Alger Hiss Book Still Insists He Was Not Guilty

NEW YORK (U)—Alger Hiss in a book out today says that political pressure, public hysteria, faked evidence and false testimony sent him to prison for 3½ years.

The former State Department official, convicted of perjury in denying he gave confidential documents to ex-spy courier Whittaker Chambers, insists in the book that he was innocent, as he did throughout his two trials.

The 418-page book, "In the Court of Public Opinion," was published by Alfred A. Knopf. Hiss was released from prison in 1954. He, his wife and son have since lived quietly in New York.

Prison Lovers Fail In Try For Baby Birth 'Outside'

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Martha Stachura and Hernandez C. Cotton, who became lovers in the Kansas State Penitentiary, apparently have failed in an attempt to have their child born outside prison walls.

Cotton, 40, and Mrs. Stachura, 27, were recaptured here and face arraignment today on charges of robbery, auto theft and kidnapping.

They told police yesterday how they arranged meetings in a prison utility tunnel and made their escape "for the baby's sake" when the woman found she was pregnant. The child is expected in September.

Two Groups Air Charges Of 'Misuse'

Teamsters' Union 'Indicted' And Told Answer Due May 24

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (U)—The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee turned from the Teamsters to the Bakers Union today in a drive to sweep corruption out of the 15-million-member labor federation.

The five-man committee called in rival factions of the 160,000-member Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union to answer charges of alleged misuse of union funds.

The committee yesterday presented the embattled Teamsters Union and its president Dave Beck with a 22-page "indictment" listing charges against Beck and a number of other national and local officers of the trucking union, which claims a 1½ million membership.

Deadline Set For May 24

The Teamsters were given until May 24 to answer the counts or show they recognize union misdeeds and intend to clean them up.

The charges involved in the Bakery Workers case are less spectacular than those against the Teamsters.

Curtis R. Sims, the Bakers secretary-treasurer, has accused the union president, James C. Cross, of misuse of union funds. Sims made similar accusations against George Stuart, a vice president who has since resigned.

Both denied the charges, and the union's board suspended Sims. In the factional alignment that followed, Herman Winter, president emeritus of the Bakers organization, sided with Cross.

Sims said last month he understood Cross was repaying to the union some $2,500 for personal telephone calls to a girl friend and that he also was returning to the union "three embarrassing Cadillac cars."

Cross replied through a spokesman that although there was nothing improper "in my use of the telephone or in accepting an automobile gift," he was paying for the phone calls and returning the car.

When Winter criticized Sims for carrying his charges to the newspapers, Sims replied in a letter: "Is public knowledge of the truth a greater union crime than the scandalous misuse of a union's money by its highest official?"

Board Supports Beck

The Teamsters' Beck, despite his difficulties, has received a new vote of confidence from his union's board. The group, on motion of Union Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, unanimously expressed confidence in Beck yesterday.

At no time has there been any discussion about the general president (Beck) resigning or any request before this board that he resign, and the board goes on record as cooperating and supporting the general president as it has in the past," a resolution said.

Kennedy First Senator To Get Pulitzer Prize

NEW YORK—The late dramatist Eugene O'Neill has won his fourth Pulitzer Prize and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) has won the first ever bestowed on a member of Congress.

The awards were among 14 Pulitzer Prizes in letters, journalism and music announced yesterday by the Trustees of Columbia University.

O'Neill received the drama award posthumously for his autobiographical play "Long Day's Journey Into Night." It is a current Broadway hit.

The biography prize went to Kennedy, 39-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, for his "Profiles in Courage." The book is a study of political integrity as exemplified by selected U. S. politicians, some famed and some obscure.

"I'm delighted—more than delighted," said Kennedy when told of the award.

No Fiction Award

O'Neill previously won Pulitzer Prizes for "Beyond the Horizon" (1920), "Anna Christie" (1922) and "Strange Interlude" (1928).

No fiction award was made this year. Kenneth Roberts received a special citation, however, for his novels on the nation's early history.

Eight prizes were granted in the field of journalism.

The Chicago Daily News took the meritorious public service award for exposing a $12-million-dollar fraud in the office of the then state auditor of Illinois, Orville E. Hodge.

The work of 21 of the newspaper's staff members ultimately led to Hodge's imprisonment.

The Pulitzer Prizes were established in 1917 under the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

Other winners announced yesterday:

Students Stage Prank, Carrier's Crew Is Alerted

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Ten Sydney University students in pirate dress boarded the U. S. aircraft carrier Bennington before reveille today.

They climbed unchallenged to the bridge and sent 2,500 American officers and sailors to battle stations by sounding the general alarm.

It was more than five minutes before the ship's company realized they were victims of a Commemoration Day prank.

The gaily garbed students slipped aboard the carrier from a small launch about 5 a. m. Officers on the bridge were taken by surprise, and could not prevent one youth from pulling the action stations alarm.

One officer later said the prank was taken in the spirit in which it was intended, but "they certainly gave us one mighty scare."

The Bennington, which arrived at Sydney May 1 in connection with Australian celebrations of Coral Sea Week, left Sydney later today for Pearl Harbor and San Diego.

The probe of Beck's activities—and those of the Teamsters—by the AFL-CIO grew out of Beck's March appearance before the Senate committee.

At that time he invoked the Fifth Amendment 117 times in refusing to tell about his use of $300,000 to $400,000 in union funds. He has publicly acknowledged using that amount.

School Girl's Death Probed In Clarksburg

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—An expected autopsy report was awaited today for details on the death of a 12-year-old schoolgirl whose body was found in an alley back of her home Sunday night.

A preliminary report by Coroner Kenna Jackson said blonde, blue-eyed Charlene Vilain was strangled and apparently raped by her assailant. Dr. Herman Fischer, pathologist at St. Mary's Hospital, was to give the detailed autopsy report.

A 24-year-old man was picked up late yesterday for questioning in the case. Sheriff Rex Bumgardner said last night the man had not been charged.

A search of the man's house while he was being questioned turned up some items of clothing which were sent to the identification bureau of state police headquarters in Charleston.

The girl's body was found, in the North View section of this North-Central West Virginia city, by a next-door neighbor putting his car up for the night. The neighbor, Willis Walker Jr., said he saw a man toss a child he was carrying over a fence then run.

Police Chief Plans Forming Bureau To Take Care Youthful Offenders

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn, who is approving the plan, Chief Flynn said he believes "a program of this sort would do much to help children get on the right track and become useful citizens."

Chief Flynn said the course would cover a period of 10 to 12 weeks at the University of Maryland. He received notification that the Maryland Commission for the Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency has approved a committee on the police services to juveniles and youth.

One of its functions is to investigate and recommend a training program within the state for special youth officers and those who staff the police youth bureaus.

A sub-committee headed by Lt. E. L. Story was appointed and it was decided to recommend a training program. The potential lecturers and instructors who would participate in such a program will be well-known experts in their field.

Chief Flynn pointed out in the letter to Commissioner Keegan that he wants to form a Juvenile Bureau consisting of two police officers and a police woman whose function would be to handle all cases concerning juveniles, and to make recommendations.

He also said the two police officers selected would be sent to College Park to participate in the training program.

Young Drivers To Hold Campaign

A joint meeting of the Cumberland and Frostburg Teen-Age Drivers Club was held last night at Centre Street Methodist Church to discuss a campaign for improving the driving skills and standards of teenagers.

The program calls for the use of films, speakers, demonstrations and county-wide contests to develop a safety consciousness among the club members and to promote increased awareness of the responsibilities of the drivers of automobiles.

Representing the Frostburg adult advisor of the Cumberland club were Gene Sager, president; Michael Fabbri, vice president; Naomi Sigler, secretary; and Patty Minick, treasurer. Officers of the Cumberland club are David Leasure, president; David Beard, vice president; John Blake, secretary; and Robert Burton, treasurer.

About 15 members of the two clubs attended last night's meeting at which a highway safety film was shown. Lynn Walker is groups.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Merrill.

No Bargain Deal

ON ITS FACE THE new Russian proposal for a partly open sky disarmament patrol seems to offer the United States something less than equal advantage with the Soviet Union. The Kremlin would like to make aerial surveys of Alaska and perhaps all of this country west of the Mississippi River. In return Moscow would open up to similar inspection eastern Siberia, an area in European Russia still undesignated, the big Pacific island of Sakhalin north of Japan, and the Kamchatka peninsula close to the American Aleutians.

MEASURED in square miles, what the Russians are proposing is to open up about a third of the Soviet Union in exchange for inspection of more than half of the United States. In our West, of course, lie vital air and naval bases, missile testing sites, power installations, the heart of the aviation industry and many other big industrial developments. We know too little of what Russia may have in the suggested inspection areas, but the general reaction was that it is not too much. Possibly there are atomic test sites, and certainly there are air bases and other military installations. But by and large eastern Siberia is the great forested wasteland of the Soviet Union.

THE REAL HEART of the country, and even the newer industrial developments of western Siberia, would seem to be ruled out of bounds under the Kremlin's plan. Undoubtedly the United States will study the offer carefully, all the same. For it is the first time Moscow has made so specific a proposal, and the first time it has not insisted that as a prelude the United States yield all its overseas bases. The preliminary feeling in informed diplomatic quarters appears to be that the plan gives reason for slight encouragement—but only slight. It sounds as if the Russians are willing to trade a look at half our rich fields for a squint at their barren, eroded south 40 acres. Hardly a bargain deal.

Don't Scare Easily

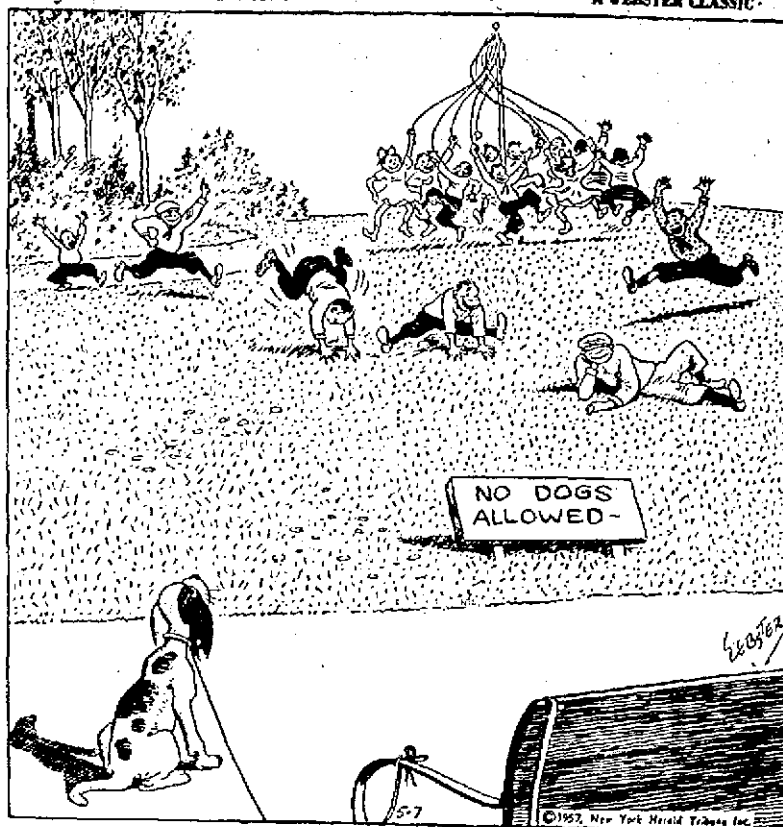

THE LITTLE countries are supposed to tremble in their boots at the merest mention of nuclear weapons. But some of them just refuse to quake. The newest example is tiny Denmark, which not long ago got one of those nasty Russian notes warning it would be suicide to allow NATO atomic installations on Danish soil. The Kremlin raised the usual bogey of nuclear annihilation in event of war. But the tough Danes are going to tell Moscow in sharp terms that NATO is not an aggressive agency but a purely defensive alliance. And they are emphasizing the intent of NATO countries big and little to stick together no matter what the threats. This is the stuff of which real strength is built. So long as NATO's members show the kind of spirit the Danes and Norwegians are exhibiting, the alliance is in no danger of cracking and Russian communism is unlikely to bulldoze its way westward through Europe.

FBI Offers Facts

AMERICANS CAN take no comfort at all from the FBI's latest report on major crimes in this country. They were up 13.3 per cent in 1956 over 1955, and altogether have soared four times as fast as the population since 1950. There always seem to be those who stoutly resist the idea that crime in America is truly on the increase. They like to suggest that the nation's huge population boost accounts for everything. The facts indicate otherwise. The 2,500,000 major crimes committed last year are the positive proof that a bigger and bigger share of our people are indulging in wrongdoing. The unhappiest part of the story, of course, is that youths under 18 played a very heavy role in the total picture. In 1956 the number of persons in this age category rose only 3 per cent in cities, yet arrests in this group rose 17.3 per cent. Nearly 46 per cent of arrests for major crimes in cities were of youngsters under eighteen. The figures are hardly something to be laughed off with the comment that "boys will be boys."

HOW YOU LOOK at the picture of a youngster displayed unclad on a rug depends on whether the picture is of you or of your baby.

Dad's Just Fall Guy, While Mom Rules Roost

NEW YORK — This is a warning, offered free and with feeling, to the men of America:

Women are slowly, sinisterly, almost subconsciously taking over the reins in America.

The movement which is putting ladies in the driver's seat was initiated by and promoted by m.m.a. So let's not have any accusations that females are ambitious, driving and greedy. Maybe some are, but those instincts could've been kicked or kissed out of them. If men had been smarter earlier.

NO, THE FACT is that American men in the last decade have given women the responsibilities of making family decisions, spending family money, and otherwise guiding family fate. Even more important, men have contributed to their own potential backslide by selling themselves up as scapegoats for a large percentage of the nation's jokes and situation comedies.

On TV and radio, in comic strips and cartoons, men have become the number one court jester—and woman the wise, if caustic, queen. She rules. He slips.

Soviet To Show Goods At Oklahoma Fair

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Soviet Russia has begun a new drive for improved trade relations with the United States. The Russians have accepted invitations to Oklahoma's Semientennial Exhibition.

Celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Sooner State's admission to the Union, the exhibit will be held on the state fair grounds in Oklahoma City, June 14 through July 7.

Dmitri I. Kostyukhin, commercial counselor of the Soviet embassy in Washington, confirms the fact that the Russians will show in Oklahoma. He says he does not yet know what Russian officials will come to the U.S. for this trade fair.

It is regarded here as the opening which the USSR has been seeking for some time to send a top trade delegation.

AS CUSTOMARY on many of these Soviet diplomatic moves, however, first announcement that the Russians would take part in the Oklahoma trade fair came through Moscow radio.

In an English language broadcast beamed to North America, Mikhail Nesterov, president of the Soviet Chamber of Commerce, revealed that "We have accepted (the Oklahoma invitation) hoping that the exposition will stimulate Soviet-American trade."

Nesterov complained that the Russians had been given very little space at Oklahoma City, so that only a small part of their usual international trade fair exhibit could be shown.

on banana peels while attempting to hang a picture in the study.

THE BANANA peels were placed on the floor of the study by those beastly little American children, who are always pictured as snickering at papa while respecting mother.

"It's a sorry state of affairs," said a well-known cartoonist at a weekend party. "They call today's humor 'barn-spun.' As I see it, this means that the man in the house is always in a tailspin, and the woman's got to be sane and smug."

"If you do a cartoon of a woman falling on her face, it's not funny. It's sacrilegious. Good old beautiful, beautiful Mom, she's sacred. Dad and the kids are jerks. Insidious!"

"And yet men, with that egotistical stupidity that says 'it ain't me they're talking about,' are laughing harder at themselves than the women are." The cartoonist asked to have his name withheld. He has future banana peel pictures to dispose of, and doesn't care to be unpopular in the smear-men fraternity.

IN TV, NO MAN escapes being put in a bluish situation.

if he's in a situation comedy. Even Robert Young, the father who allegedly knows best, doesn't often come off as well as his wife or female neighbors; and compared with Desi, George, Sid, et al., he is remarkably intelligent.

This new psychologically-selling racket called "motivation research" indicates that virtually every big outfit with something to barter is looking to the study of women's habits and whims. Because it's well-known—though kept suppressed in polite party conversation—that the women of America own most of the money and make most of the decisions and live longer to buy more.

I DON'T LIKE to be an alarmist, but the way things are going men had better watch their step and start stepping on the women, instead of on themselves. Things are matrilarchal enough, as it is; if the trend continues to expand, that monster that the artists and advertisers are creating may turn out to be an Amazon.

We women wouldn't like that to happen. We still prefer a man we can look up to, over one we must laugh at.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Strange as it may seem in a man whose major activities lie within the backbiting, smallest small town in America—Broadway in the theatre district—I was brought up in the credo that among other things old friends are for is their defense.

My daily living is made in a section where friends don't count for too much too long, and today's pal is tomorrow's smiler with a knife. But, recently, an old, old friend has been taking a severe shelling from a fringe group of wild-eyed, free space-grabbers and I think it is time to defend him. His name is tobacco.

THESE BEING suspicious times, let me clear my shirttails. I do not own even one share of any tobacco stock. I never have owned even one share of any tobacco stock and I do not expect ever to own even one share of tobacco stock. I am not personally known to any executive of any tobacco manufacturing firm. I don't even know any tobacco growers. No monetary or any other kind of inducements ever have been offered for me to say what I am about to say.

Once, let it be confessed, back there 25 years or so ago when it was popular, I was offered $25 to take the blindfold test offered by the manufacturer of a certain make of cigarette. I blew the test. I chose the wrong cigarette as my favorite. The check for $25 was handed over with ill-concealed chagrin and my memory is that I never cashed it.

Those are the facts. Today, without any fetters or ties in this regard, I only want to defend a long-time, ever-patient and ever-helpful friend from taking a beating.

I HAVE BEEN a steady but not excessive smoker for about 40 years, give or take a year. In that time, I have smoked cigarettes with pleasure, pipes, cigars, medicinally and at whim, cigars under compulsion. I average 20 cigarettes every 24 hours, which the keepers of the fables tell me is neither excessive nor modest—about average. My lungs are clear, my hands steady, my heart unimpaired so far as can be detected and I stop my car as instantly as possible when the green light turns red. That last phrase is not a frivolity. It has point.

For several years now scientists have been divided as to whether tobacco smoking does or does not cause cancer of the lungs and/or possibly of the mouth and lips. I'm no scientist. I don't know and I don't think they know—for sure. But the publicity naturally accruing to such a grave possibility has fetched in the people from all around and it is a poor day when the papers do not record one more case of finger-pointing.

Babies are made twitchy by smoking mothers, fathers sire less desirable children as a result of smoking and, almost, horses are spavined by smoking plowhands. I'm only citing how far into the land of the ridiculous these indictments can wander.

NOW COMES a gentleman who claims that color blindness is a defined possibility if one smokes. He claims that certain retinal functions are gradually and steadily impaired until, at last, the poor smoking wretch doesn't know green from red or blue from orange. Which is why, after 40 years of being on the weed, I mentioned that I could stop a car without much loss of reaction time whenever the green light turns red.

I don't want to put too fine a point on this, but I don't believe it. I have known victims of lung cancer and some are dead now and others will be and I have never known one in which it was unalterably, positively proved that tobacco caused it.

I have never, under any circumstance, known a victim of color blindness who caught it from smoking. Indeed, the outstanding case of color blindness known to me has never smoked a cigarette in her life. Or a pipe or a cigar. I don't think she ever put her teeth into a plug of chewing tobacco, either.

SOME DAY, and hopefully soon, the students, probers and scientists of lung cancer will get around to looking with equal severity at other possible assassins: motor car fumes, oil burners, fumes, natural gas fumes, smoke and grime in big cities, factory exhausts and like polluters of the big city air we breathe.

For all I know, which isn't much, huddling 9,000,000 people into a city area could cause lung cancer.

Meanwhile, my pal and I get along fine. And we can tell color, too.

Hard To Put Land To Sleep

WASHINGTON — The government's soil bank wherein millions of acres were supposed to be planted in trees—thus conserving good earth and also cutting down on farm surpluses—doesn't seem to be doing so well.

It's not exactly like plowing under little pigs, or coloring potatoes purple so people won't eat 'em, but apparently it comes close. At least in the eyes of its critics, it does.

The President, himself, asked Congress a while back to knock off $254,000,000 for his soil bank program, while Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Tamm Benson appeared before the House Appropriations Committee to say: "With whatever amounts are appropriated by the Congress, we intend to operate as economically as possible."

THE SOLONS gave the Secretary a cheer for his cooperative words, and then Chairman Jamie L. Whitten had a few things to say about what his own investigators had discovered in the farm program.

"Some of the things do surprise me," he said. "For instance, in our report it is shown that in some instances recipients received, from insurance, payments for crop failure—and also received acreage reserve payments on the same land for leaving it out of production."

"It also surprises me that in some areas farmers received pay for lands taken out of one type of wheat and then, in turn, were paid a premium to put in a different type of wheat. A good many things in this report are surprising to me."

MARVIN MFLAIN, the Assistant Secretary, said the soil bank was a new idea which was put into action in such a hurry that such bobbles were bound to have happened.

"I firmly believe that the acreage reserve program will help destroy every small town and village in the United States," Whitten continued. "If it succeeds in reducing the American farmers' production, after five years there will be little, if any, foreign markets. This comment goes to the basic program and not to your administration of it. Now, do you have a statement?"

MFLAIN had one, all right, and proceeded to read it. He said in general that the department rapidly was smoothing out the rough spots in putting farm land to sleep.

WHITTEN said one trouble with the soil bank was that city folks were getting the idea that this was only another handout to the farmers.

So the Congressman and the Secretary got into a complicated argument about how the soil bank had worked so far, and even with the transcript in front of me, I'm not sure I know what they were talking about.

BENSON'S figures (which are easily understandable) indicate that last year farmers signed 547,000 agreements to place more than 12,000,000 acres on the sidelines for future use.

For not farming these acres, they got $260,000,000.

As of a month ago there were 917,000 agreements in force calling for the farmers to be paid $607,348,332 for promising not to use the plow on 21,316,822 acres.

That's a lot of land. It should produce a lot of trees—that is, if the producers of seedlings ever make their peace with Uncle Sam. But that's another story. (United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Gulping Oil

IT IS A WIDELY accepted proposition that people in this country a generation or two ago were more wasteful of our natural resources than the present generation is. The timber barons who slashed their way through our forests, in contrast with present day lumbering companies which cut with care and plant trees to replace those they remove, are often cited in support of that proposition.

Certainly our methods of timber management have improved. There is also evidence in other fields that the doctrine of conserving resources for the future is beginning to be accepted. This does not entitle us to be smug. In fact, it only slightly dulls the edge of the justifiable charge that we are being wildly extravagant with our reserves of petroleum.

Suppose the administration were to propose to Congress that new automobiles be limited to, say, 150 horsepower. That would cause a terrible uproar. The bill would scarcely have a chance of passage.

Yet a good case could be made for the contention that such a limit would be only fair to future generations, since the powerful cars now being made in Detroit swallow gas much more rapidly than lighter, less powerful cars would do.

Petroleum reserves are not replaceable. To caution against using them with practically no regard for the future is not to shriek at imaginary bugaboos under the bed. There is a valid possibility that if we do not curb our use of petroleum reserves there will be none left a few decades or generations hence.

Just as we draw upon the past for much of our wisdom and strength, so we have an obligation to the future. Part of that obligation is to pass on as much of the world's natural resources as we reasonably can.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—Within a few weeks, the Indiana highway scandal is going to jump state lines. It is due to spread into a national scandal that will make the teamster racketeering expose look like petty larceny stuff by comparison.

Investigators for the Senate Public Works Committee already are delving into right-of-way profiteering in a dozen states, and expect to extend the probe into every state affected by the $33 billion national highway program.

Up to now, the only scandals to be publicized to any extent have been in Indiana where operators used advance information to buy up land along prospective rights-of-way and resell it to the government at preposterous profits. But investigation has shown that operators, not only in Indiana, but in widely separated sections of the country, have been working a secondary racket.

This has come to be known to the Senate as the "local airstrip racket."

According to Filo M. Sedillo, chief clerk of the Senate Public Works Committee, this is how the racket has been operated on a widespread basis.

EITHER AS A result of leaks from inside state highway commissions, or in direct collusion with a member, or members, the fast-buck operators buy land that is not directly on a prospective highway, but some distance removed. But they manage to have this property purchased with government right-of-way funds.

Then they induce plant state authorities to designate it for a local airport—although there may not be so much as an old Waco biplane belonging to anyone in the area.

The Senate investigators began digging into the local airstrip racket after they discovered that a piece of property had been bought with federal right-of-way funds on a secondary road near Milan, Ind. The property has since been earmarked for an airport, although Milan has a population of 1200.

The Indiana investigation has uncovered deals where an operator bought up a strip of land for $3,000, and resold it, within a couple of weeks, to the government for $38,000. But the investigators tell me that similar deals are coming to light all over the country.

THE CURRENT big fight over veterans housing involves the rate of interest which Congress allows lenders to charge the home buyers. The present allowable rate is 4½ per cent, but many veterans have been complaining they can't borrow money that cheaply.

Rep. William Humes Ayres, Republican of Ohio, got up and declared the 4½ per cent rate was unrealistic. He made the flat statement that there was no money at 4½ per cent available in his district, anyway.

He was interrupted by Rep. Olin Teague, Democrat of Texas. "Tiger" Teague bragged a fistful of newspapers at his startled GOP colleague.

"I have in my hand," cried Tiger, "a bunch of this week's papers from your home town of Akron. They all advertise loans to veterans at 4½ percent!"

"Where did you get those Akron papers?" yelled Ayres.

"Oh," replied Tiger Teague, blandly. "I borrowed them from your office!"

For one of the few times in his political career, Rep. Ayres was dumbfounded. He confided later that he has always had the greatest respect for his Democratic colleague, but cannot help feeling Tiger's method of obtaining rebuttal material in this case verged on the unprincipled.

Five Certified For City Jobs

The Mayor and Council yesterday appointed Joseph Sangiovanni as warehouse clerk, effective May 1 and at a salary of $267.50 a month.

The Police Department reported 1,609 arrests were made in April, and $2,249 in fines collected. The Fire Department said it answered 35 calls in April and reported a 10-day suspension imposed on J. W. Winters.

"One Day In The Life Of The World"

Family Plans In London, Boston Coming Along Fine

EDITOR'S NOTE—What makes a day important? One government defying another? A plane crash? A Senate hearing? A family split in Hollywood?

Maybe. But to the little people it is often the little things. Like the Kelly's grand plan in London. Or the new arrival in the Murphy family in Boston.

In the accompanying story, last of a three-part series, The Associated Press has called on its correspondents around the world for news of what happened in a single day—April 4, 1957. The compilation, "A Day In The Life Of The World," makes fascinating reading.

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
From Material Gathered by AP Correspondents Throughout The World

In London, James Kelly, 28, of Flat 277 on the M block of bombed Lever Street, was pleased with the end of the big strike because the rising prices had begun to pinch. Suzie, James Kelly saw that only in terms of petrol rationing, and he didn't much care since he doesn't own a car and never expects to.

But, of course, the day's biggest event was the birth of Katherine Mary Kelly in Flat 277. That meant that James Kelly's "grand plan" of having two girls and two boys each two years apart, was coming along just fine. They already had a son, aged two.

"It is a fortunate man that I am," he said.

Kelly's job, which is to help build iron scaffolding, brings him an average 14 pounds ($39.20) for a week of six days, more than 60 hours. He lives in two small rooms, heated and with running water but lighted by gas jets. The Kellys share a hall toilet with their neighbors and use public baths.

Kelly sees his own life as a vast improvement over his father's on the farm, in County Limerick, Ireland. His father has never been to Dublin.

"Now I've been to Dublin, Liverpool, London. I've lived better and not worked as hard. I've got better health, I've had better schooling. I've got more time to rest and have a beer."

Suit Begins Over Office Contract Bid

BALTIMORE (AP) — Judge Edwin Harlan of Baltimore City Circuit Court says the state may have been "unreasonable and arbitrary" in some phases of its award of a $31-million-dollar contract on the State Office Building.

Oral arguments were presented by attorneys yesterday in a suit contesting the contract award filed by Baltimore Contractors Inc. and Terminal Construction Co.

The contract was awarded to Blake Construction Co. of Washington for $9,754,885 and work already is under way. The two contesting firms were only about $3,000 higher than the successful bidder.

Judge Harlan said that the "unreasonable and arbitrary" action may have occurred when the state refused to allow any of the bidders but Blake to discuss economies in private talks with James J. O'Donnell, state director of public improvements.

The court said O'Donnell proposed that new bids be sought, deleting certain items in the plans, but the Board of Public Works refused to go along with the suggestion.

The board, the Blake firm and O'Donnell were given 20 days in which to answer the suit. There has been no testimony as yet.

The phone rang. Bill Murphy listened briefly, grabbed his gray gabardine top coat and hat, and dashed off to the hospital. He was smiling. His wife, Mary had just borne a girl, their fourth child and all was well. The baby had a life expectancy of 69.

At the hospital, he and Mary embraced. Together, they thanked God "for a healthy normal baby daughter" and prayed.

Shoots Polar Bear

The sun moved on, over Alaska, where a bush pilot shot a polar bear near Point Barrow, on over the international date-line, burning off the early morning mists on the Pacific. And in the awesome cycle by which one continent's dusk becomes another continent's dawn, a new day began and April 4 ended in the world.

What would people remember of this day? What would historians record? Would it be an idea or the fragment of an idea or philosopher? Would it be the birth of another Einstein, another Pasteur, another Lincoln?

Mt. City Business Group Requests Change In Meters

FROSTBURG — A request was made last evening by the Frostburg Business Association at the council meeting that the one-half hour parking meters now located on Main Street, between Water Street and the Palace Theatre, be changed to enable motorists to put a second nickel in the meter and park for a full hour.

It was pointed out by the association that shoppers who park their cars in the business district do not have time to complete purchases in half an hour. These shoppers, they felt, would not complain about the extra nickel in order to be able to park near the shopping center for an hour.

After consideration council voted unanimously to have the meters changed.

Curtis Green, commander, and William Preston, chaplain of John R. Fairgrieve Post 2462, VFW requested permission from the Mayor and Council to erect a number of street markers in the city as a public service project.

Preston noted that few of the city streets are marked, making it difficult for strangers to locate an address. Each marker will cost the post $1 plus material to place sign. Labor will be donated by members of the post.

In addition to this project, Commander Green asked permission to repaint the trash cans now located along Main Street. The Mayor stated that this was a commendable gesture. Council gave permission for the post to go ahead with both projects.

Mayor James noted that he was pleased to have members of the Post take on the project of marking the streets. Perhaps some other civic or fraternal organizations may lend a hand financially to complete the work which will cost quite a bit of money to complete, he added.

Incinerator Draws Blast At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — An Uhl Street delegation including Richard Wiebrecht, Virgil Atkinson and Ronald Broadwater appeared before the Mayor and Commissioners at last night's council meeting to request that some action be taken regarding a large incinerator built in a stone wall in that section of the city.

The incinerator, according to the group, was constructed to burn paper from St. Michael's School and this has caused no trouble. However, a number of people in the neighborhood have been using it to dump garbage, tin cans and bottles. Most of this material will not burn and merely causes a stench in the area.

One of the delegation stated that literally hundreds of large rats now infest the area due to this situation. He stated that he personally has killed over 40 rats and his neighbors also claim to have destroyed a number in the locality of the incinerator.

Another member of the delegation stated that a small child playing at the top level of the incinerator fell into it several days ago and, only because of prompt action of a neighbor, was saved from injury. From the trap door in the top of the incinerator, which is at the level of the playground, is a drop of eight feet to the grates.

The men also noted that the city maintains a free garbage collection and it is not necessary for people to burn garbage in this incinerator and cause a health and safety hazard.

The Mayor thanked the men for bringing this matter to their attention and promised to check into it at once and see what can be done to alleviate the situation.

Career Corner

BY JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK. — (INS) — Girls who want a career based on security instead of glamour should give insurance a long, steady look.

College education, while helpful, is not required.

On the clerical level, insurance companies usually provide a good many fringe benefits in addition to average salaries.

On the sales level, the U. S. Department of Labor reports more than 1,700 women were members of the National Committee of Women Underwriters in 1956, and 276 of these sold at least $250,000 worth of life insurance in a year. Some women even qualify for the "million-dollar" club of top sales personnel.

Automobile insurance is a good field to start in, according to the Labor Department. Every car buyer is a prospect and automobile insurance is something that most people want or need by state law.

The difficulty with the auto insurance field is the comparatively low premiums and the sometimes extensive amount of servicing required.

Life insurance is a field with higher premiums, but it is harder to sell, particularly for young people. Since prospects often are unwilling to trust an inexperienced agent with such an important matter.

Housing Authority Will Sell Notes

The Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland will open bids May 21 at 1 p. m. for the purchase of its seventh series of temporary notes.

The notes will be dated June 11 and payable January 10, 1958.

For Wednesday, May 8, 1957:

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — The daring and different can be striking but, for best results, it must be monitored by sensible analysis. Prudent execution. Acquaint yourself thoroughly with day's requirements. Tackle essentials in order of importance.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — You could be too anxious, too hasty, too energetic now. In all things aim to be calm, poised, reasonable, tolerant. But defend principles firmly.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — Hold opinion that, if you will, it will hurt nobody. Or will it lead to bickering and wasting time explaining later?

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo) — Investigate, analyze, then voice your opinions carefully. Work with consistency, cooperate with others and the day will be happier, more successful than you may think.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo) — There may be a tendency toward over-enthusiasm, overlooking small but necessary details and tasks. Be careful about this and you can attain top results.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra) — Your aspects are better than most now, but you may have to curb tail action a bit because others may be at odds with your opinions or methods. Keep trying; you CAN make new strides.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius) — Promote matters you really understand; don't hopscotch around the uncertain. A good period for making necessary improvements.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces) — In dealing with others bear in mind that you, too, seek favors, want success in work and other matters. Show your even balance, your equitable manner and a grateful day will follow. Have patience; understanding.

"YOU BORN TODAY" are endowed with such qualities as friendliness, dependability, a sense of responsibility, the ability to carry on despite hardships, general all-around capability and a liking for the better things of life. Be careful not to over-indulge in pleasures, luxuries, rich foods, beverages. When justly aroused, you can be a bulwark of defense, or, if wrongly, domineering. Normally you get along with everybody. Associates are intelligent, appreciate art, music and good literature. As you do. Birthdate: Harry S. Truman, U. S. President.

Paul Haberlein Seeks Firemen's Presidency

Jack Eichhorn, Lonaconing, has notified the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association that he is withdrawing from activities of the organization.

His action, reported at the association's executive board monthly meeting Sunday at Luke, was followed by Paul Haberlein, Frostburg, announcing he would seek the office of president.

Eichhorn, according to firemen, was in line for the presidency and, probably would have been elected at the Allegany-Garrett convention next month in Grantsville.

William Smith of Luke and J. Francis Fatkin of Clarksburg have announced their candidacy for vice president.

Plans for the area and state conventions and routine reports occupied the attention of the executive board.

George Comp, president, said four officers and 17 companies answered roll call. Cranwell Zembower, recording secretary, reported that all units have paid their association dues and all companies have submitted their credentials for the convention except Cresaptown, Luke, Cumberland Hose Company, Bowman's Addition and Ellerslie. He urged these units to submit them immediately.

A report was made on the annual smoker, held April 27 at Goodwill Fire Company, hall in Lonaconing, attracted 653 firemen.

The association went on record by resolution that at future annual smokers the only member to receive a complimentary ticket will be the association president.

Nelson W. Russler reported receipt of a letter from J. Millard Tawes, chairman of the Maryland State Firemen's Association committee on scholarships. Mr. Tawes has called a committee meeting at his office for 3 p. m. tomorrow to screen applications for a scholarship in fire protection leading to a BS degree at the University of Maryland.

David Kirk reported on his attendance at the state executive meeting at LaVale Fire Hall April 28. He said all units of the association had paid their state dues except Kitzmiller, and that four new units have joined the state association. Total membership of volunteer fire companies in Maryland is now 278.

Kirk also noted that state reports must be in the hands of the proper officials not later than May 15 and that the committee has decided no prizes will be awarded for fire-fighting equipment in the parade at Ocean City when the 1957 state firemen's convention is held June 19-21.

Kirk also reported that the General Assembly had increased the annual appropriation for firemen's pensions by $12,500 annually, but the state-sponsored fire marshal bill failed to pass.

John Pritchard, who is liaison officer for the county convention to be held at Grantsville June 5, reported everything is ready and the Grantsville company has planned a program.

Kirk, of the committee on parade prizes, reported that the association prizes offered at the convention parade include $25 each for the company making the best appearance, company with the most firemen in line, company with the highest percentage of membership in line, fire company with the most men accompanied by a band; and a $20 prize for the second largest company accompanied by a band, in line.

To qualify for a prize, a company must march at least 12 men. Kirk also noted that other prizes will be offered by the Grantsville unit, but these indicated the association prizes.

It was also reported that no free passes across the Bay Bridge will be available to delegates and others attending the Ocean City convention. The license tags issued for volunteer firemen, members were told, are numbered from FD 10-01 to RD 54-54, and a record number has been issued.

Mr. Zembower called attention to a planned Civil Defense fire alert for May 28, to be known as "Operation Flame." All fire companies will participate and when the alert is sounded, each unit will move to a previously designated area.

William A. Wilson was endorsed by the association for re-election as treasurer of the state association.

James Lamberson of Barton was appointed fire protection coordinator for the Tri-Towns District, succeeding David Kirk who has moved to Cumberland. The district embraces Westernport, Piedmont, Luke, Keyser, McCoole, Barton and Bloomington.

Following the meeting, Luke firemen served a ham dinner.

Bill To Permit Highway, Span Across Channel

WASHINGTON — The House today passed a bill to permit construction of a road and a bridge across Assateague channel to Assateague Island.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, would allow the State of Virginia to open to the public what has been described by the Interior department as one of the finest beaches on the Atlantic Ocean. The Virginia Eastern Shore beach presently is accessible only by water.

The road would run through the Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge on Assateague Island.

Passing Era

SILVER CITY, N. M. — A bit of the Old West has passed out of New Mexico's modern life.

The Grant County Commission announced recently it would no longer pay the usual predatory animal bounties because the money was not available in the amounts claimed. Standard prices in the past have been $25 for each mountain lion and $5 for each coyote killed.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Defective Wiring Blamed In LaVale Fire

Fire which destroyed a large LaVale building late Sunday night may have been caused by defective wiring. The structure formerly housed the Zimmerman Body Repair Shop.

Eugene Grabenstein, who operated the shop, said it was possibly caused by defective wiring in an upper story of the building. An attempt to salvage some of the machinery is being made by Grabenstein, who said that a total of 14 machines were burned in the blaze before it was brought under control by volunteer firemen of five companies.

Meanwhile, maintenance crews of the C&P Telephone Company are busy restoring service affected by the fire. Robert G. Garner, manager of the local telephone office, said it is hoped to have normal service today, although there will be some isolated cases where phones will be out.

Edward Rice, central office foreman, reported that by 11 a. m. yesterday it was expected that the number of "out of service" lines would be reduced to 260, including 625 telephones.

All toll circuits out of Cumberland are back in service. C. R. F. Alter, construction foreman supervisor said 14 men were working last night, some from Oakland and others from Frostburg.

All cables are in place, he said. Special cable had to be procured from Baltimore and it arrived here late in the afternoon. Telephone crews tested customer telephones until 10 p. m. last night.

Grabenstein said the damage including the building and machinery was estimated between $60,000 and $70,000. He said he has no definite immediate business but is attempting to salvage as much machinery as possible.

He said that among the vehicles burned were a wrecker and a deep station wagon which belonged to him.

Part of the wall at the upper end of the building was pulled down yesterday afternoon when it was found to be a hazard for telephone company workers.

Today the remaining walls were scheduled to be pulled down. High winds yesterday created a hazard. Cumberland Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker and Capt. Virgil V. McClure, called to the scene yesterday by LaVale volunteers, found the remaining Dummy's king won that lead and a diamond was played. West won with the ace and played a second club. Dummy's ace took this and a diamond was discarded.

Trumps were drawn and West made his nine of diamonds at the finish.

A quick look at the East and West hands shows that East could have made four hearts or maybe five. Both East and West must take blame for letting South steal the contract.

East's bidding was the same type of reasoning that causes the ostrich to bury his head in the sand so that the hunters won't see him.

East was pretty sure that he could make four hearts. He also feared that North and South could make four spades. He reasoned that if he bid again North and South would get to that spade game.

It never occurred to East that if North and South had a game they would bid it anyway. South still had a bid coming and would go on if his cards warranted such action.

When the bid came to West he acted like a rabbit. West had a mighty sound raise for his partner. He only held three hearts but an overall almost always shows at least a five-card suit so that was adequate trump support. Then West's two aces were real good cards. The worst that could happen if he had bid three hearts would be that East would go down a trick.

West should have taken that slight risk and bid three hearts. Then East would surely have pulled his head out of the sand and bid the game.

Man Injured In Route 50 Mishap Dies

William F. Voit, 22, Slanesville, Escaped Death Just Year Ago

Wilbert Frank Voit, 22, Slanesville, W. Va., died early this morning in Memorial Hospital from injuries sustained in a one-car accident late Saturday night.

Voit, who narrowly escaped death in a one-car accident one year ago this month, sustained undetermined head injuries in the accident which occurred on U. S. Route 50 near Romney.

Last year Voit was critically injured when the car in which he was riding crashed into a large oak tree on Main Street in Romney. Two other youths, Larry D. Saville, 19, Augusta, and Harold C. Brown, 20, Wilmington, Del., who were visiting relatives in Romney, were killed instantly.

Seriously Injured In 1956 Voit, in the 1956 mishap, sustained a skull fracture, severe lacerations of the scalp, ear, nose and forehead and a compound fracture of the lower left leg. The impact of this accident was so great that the drivetrain was located 40 feet from the tree and the car's front windshield and headlights were thrown one block.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said this morning that details on Saturday night's accident are still vague.

The accident, police said, occurred about four miles east of Romney when the driver failed to negotiate a left turn. The vehicle went out of control, rammed into a shale and rock embankment, careened diagonally across the highway, struck the opposite embankment and turned over.

Driver Not Determined Police said Odell Smith, 22, of RD 1, Paw Paw, was also riding in the car with Voit, and it has not been determined who was driving the car. Smith is reported in "fair" condition here at Memorial Hospital, and police have been unable to question the youth because of his condition.

Voit was a son of Kenneth and Margaret (Haines) Voit of Slanesville.

The body has been taken to the McKee Funeral Home in Augusta.

Finley Thompson, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America; John J. Long, safety director at the PPG plant; Arthur Trago, Jr., of the public relations office at the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and Frank T. Powers, Froberg, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

Burke, Hains, Thompson and Powers are members of the committee on arrangements.

Firemen Called Out For Blaze

District 16 volunteer firemen were called early this morning when a large pile of discarded oil filters from Diesel engines ignited in the vicinity of construction work by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad below Exits Creek.

The alarm was sounded at 2 a. m., and was answered by four men. Firemen said the filters are used as warning lights at night.

Early yesterday afternoon firemen from South End station answered an alarm at the same location when the filters were ignited.

The District 16 firemen are currently conducting their annual coin card campaign to raise funds to support the company.

Last year a total of $400 was collected.

Teachers Voted Increase In Pay

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — A cross section of Queen Anne's County residents got together last night for an old-fashioned "town meeting" and voted to give their school teachers a bonus.

Exactly how much the teachers will get was left to the county commissioners but it will probably average out to about $200 a year.

The three-man Board of County Commissioners called the meeting after the Board of Education appealed to it for help. One commissioner was in favor of raising teachers pay; another was against it and the third wanted to know what the public thought.

Man Hurt First Day At Work

A 41-year-old local man was admitted to Memorial Hospital shortly after noon today after being injured in an accident at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company site.

The man, James Clark, of 177 North Mechanic Street, was in a semi-conscious condition when admitted to the institution. A spokesman for the Mitchell Construction Company said Clark started work for the company only this morning.

He was working on a floor section when he backed into a scaffold and fell, and it was believed he struck the back of his head.

Former Local Man Stabbed In Cleveland

A former Cumberland man is in serious condition in a Cleveland hospital after being stabbed in the abdomen Saturday night in a Cleveland east side altercation.

He is Robert Warnick, son of Capt. Austin Warnick of the Cumberland Fire Department, and Mrs. Warnick, 360 Frederick Street.

Cleveland Police Homicide Bureau today gave this resume of the stabbing.

They reported Warnick was in the Club 66 in the east side talking to the establishment's owner, Max Stone.

A woman interrupted their conversation, and when they showed her no attention, she became abusive.

Police said Stone, with the assistance of Warnick, ejected her from the club.

Outside were two men who accosted Stone and Warnick with knives.

Warnick received a stab wound in the abdomen and Stone, in the right arm. The latter was treated at Lakeside Hospital and released.

But Warnick was admitted in fair condition. His parents are in Cleveland with him.

Acquaintances of Warnick said he was a former guard at a Maryland Penitentiary before moving to Cleveland.

The two attackers fled and police said their identities remain unknown. The woman, when questioned, claimed she did not know the pair. She attempted to hang herself while in jail, authorities reported. She has been released.

Kelly Charity Donation Tops Cancer Drive

Donation Of $480 Sends '57 Crusade, Total Over $7,000

A check for $480 from the Kelly Employees Charity Fund today sent Allegany county's 1957 Cancer Crusade over the $7,000 mark to exceed last year's final general total, William Walsh, president of Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society, announced this morning.

"The donation from employees of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant is the largest we've received this year," Walsh said, "and was accompanied by a report outlining the distribution of an additional $120 to cancer drives in other counties where workers reside."

A check of Allegany County Chapter's donations this morning showed approximately $5,000 reported as a result of the women's division canvass of homes, with returns remaining to be made by about ten communities.

The other $2,000 represents donations made as a result of letters mailed to employ charity groups, professional men, industrial plants, businessmen and various organizations. Meanwhile, the special gifts committee is contacting about 300 business and industrial leaders.

Other large donations reported today include $100 from employees of the George F. Hazelwood Company, $50 from First National Bank employees, and $32.10 from workers at the Post Office.

W. M. Petrea, secretary-treasurer of the Kelly Employees Charity Fund, in his letter to the chapter, stated the following additional cancer donations, based on the percentage of Kelly workers living in different areas, will be made: Mineral county, West Virginia, $48; Bedford county, Pennsylvania, $42; Hampshire county, West Virginia, and Somerset county, Pennsylvania, $12 each, and Garrett county, $6.

The breakdown for Allegany county, as outlined by Petrea, follows: Cumberland, $292; Frostburg, $76.80; Lonaconing, $28.40; Midland, Flintstone and St. Savage, $14.40 each; Westport, Eckhart, Corriganville, Barreville, Barton, Cresaptown and Oldtown, $6.60 each, and Ellerslie, $4.80.

The Potomac Valley Riding Club will meet Sunday at 11 a. m. at Woodland Inn, near Short Gap.

A 37-year-old Youngstown, Ohio, resident was fatally injured in a one-car accident this morning on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Somerset County.

Dead on arrival at Bedford County Memorial Hospital was John W. McLaughlin, 37, of 173 Willis Avenue, Youngstown.

Pennsylvania Turnpike police at Everett said the man died of a broken neck and fractured skull.

According to police the accident occurred at 2:20 a. m. (EST) as McLaughlin was traveling east on the pike. The car ran off the highway, back on, and struck a dirt embankment, police said.

Police also said the accident occurred approximately three miles east of the Allegheny Tunnel.

Burned Phone Lines Placed Back In Use

Crews From Five Areas Assist Cumberland Workmen At Scene

All through-service lines damaged by the fire in LaVale Sunday night were restored this morning, according to Charles M. Smith, plant wire chief for the C&P Telephone Company here.

Crews from Baltimore, Frederick, Hagerstown, Frostburg and Oakland, together with Cumberland district personnel, worked straight through to this morning. Affected by the Grabenstein Body Repair Shop blaze were 310 lines, 750 stations and 130 toll circuits.

Seventy per cent of the phones were back in operation within 24 hours. The local phones were in service today at 6 a. m. and toll circuits at 8 a. m.

Smith said some of these are on a temporary basis and will be tied in permanently tonight.

He added the work would have been done sooner, but the 35 linemen, installers and splicers were held up for two hours as firemen tore down some of the walls of the three-story building.

Smith said the damage was not as bad as the glass plant fire six months ago, because the poles were farther away from the blaze.

Also, he noted, the volunteer firemen kept playing water on the burning poles during the intense heat. James Lear is assistant chief of the LaVale Fire Company.

C&A Starts Program For Fire Fighting

A program of training in fighting fires has been started by the C&A Gas Company with the out-door sessions held near the firm's compressor station at Ellerslie.

The program is part of the overall plan of the Columbia Gas System, Pittsburgh Group Companies, of which the C&A is a part. John Andreini, assistant to the safety director, Pittsburgh Group Companies, is instructor.

A uniform program of fighting fires and training for operating personnel is included in the course. The firm hopes to minimize the possible extent of injury to personnel and damage to equipment and facilities in an emergency.

The class was attended by 138 employees of C&A and workers of Division 6 of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company from Downingtown, Eagle, Ellwood and Brinker compression stations in nearby Pennsylvania.

The class included lectures and films and demonstrations on use of fire extinguishing devices and equipment. The men were served lunch at the Methodist Church in Ellerslie.

Two Area Men Named Member Of Timber Plan

Two area men are taking part in the Maryland Tree Farm Committee program.

David W. Sowers Jr., Hancock, of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, is chairman of the committee and is also inspector for Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties.

John Adams Jr., 174 Fourth Street, Oakland, will be inspector for Garrett County. The inspectors, whose work is voluntary, will work with foresters in their areas.

Through the industry-operated tree farm program, private landowners who practice good forestry to produce continuing crops of timber are publicly recognized. General requirements for certification are: The land must be privately owned; the owner must protect his woods from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazing; and he must harvest timber in the proper manner to insure repeated crops.

Chief Judges Niles and Gray To Discuss Court Rule Changes

Three top Maryland legal experts will speak at a rules symposium in Cumberland on June 1 from 2 to 6 p. m. at the Court House under auspices of the Allegany County Bar Association.

They are Chief Judge Emory H. Niles, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City; Chief Judge John B. Gray Jr., of the Seventh Judicial Circuit comprising Calvert, Prince George, Charles and St. Mary's counties, and Frederick W. Invernizzi, former professor of law at the University of Maryland now serving as a reporter for the rules committee of the Maryland Bar Association.

Following the afternoon session on the new court rules the Allegany County Bar Association will be host at a dinner at the Cumberland Country Club for the visitors and members of the Bar Associations of Garrett and Washington counties. More than 100 lawyers will attend the two events.

The Bar Association discussed plans for the program at a meeting yesterday at the Court House.

William Offutt Doub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Doub, this city, was admitted to membership in the association. He is associated with the B&O Railroad legal department in Baltimore.

A discussion was held on the Workmen's Compensation Law and efforts which will be made to prevent delays in procedures during litigation. This includes a program whereby doctors and witnesses would not have to wait too long before hearings in such cases are held.

Two committees were appointed today by the Bar Association. W. Earle Cobey is chairman of a special group considering a minimum fees schedule. William C. Walsh and William S. Jenkins will serve with him.

A committee to study the unauthorized practice of law will consist of James Alfred Avritt as chairman and Clarence Lippel, Albert A. Doub, Horace P. Whitworth Jr., and Estel C. Kelley.

Man Killed In Pike Crash

A 37-year-old Youngstown, Ohio, resident was fatally injured in a one-car accident this morning on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Somerset County.

Dead on arrival at Bedford County Memorial Hospital was John W. McLaughlin, 37, of 173 Willis Avenue, Youngstown.

Pennsylvania Turnpike police at Everett said the man died of a broken neck and fractured skull.

According to police the accident occurred at 2:20 a. m. (EST) as McLaughlin was traveling east on the pike. The car ran off the highway, back on, and struck a dirt embankment, police said.

Police also said the accident occurred approximately three miles east of the Allegheny Tunnel.

Apartment Building Sold

The large building at the northeast corner of Bedford and North Centre streets has been purchased by Frank McCagh and his wife, Catherine, and Thomas B. Finan and his wife, Isabelle.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, who retired as Allegany County Health officer on May 1, sold the building to the two couples.

The four-story brick structure is occupied on the ground floor by the Walsh and McCagh Drug Store, the office of Dr. Ralph A. Reiter.

A number of apartment are located on the three upper floors. Finan said there are no plans to change any of the present tenants.

More Jurors Examined At Keyser Trial

Panel Of 19 Picked From 115; Completion Possible Today

Fifty-eight more prospective jurors were examined this morning in Mineral County Circuit Court in Keyser in an attempt to get a jury to try Howard S. Butler for murder.

This makes a total of 115 persons examined yesterday and until noon today, and only 19 tentative jurors have not been questioned by the attorneys. A panel of 20 jurors is required.

Of the 58 examined this morning, 33 were stricken because they said they had formed opinions in the case that involved the shooting death of Mrs. Velma Marie (Greenhorn) Sharon December 30 in Butler's Piedmont apartment.

Witnesses Named

Another 28 persons declared they were against capital punishment. Court attaches indicated that a jury probably would be formed by the end of the day.

Edward J. Ryan, Cumberland and Frostburg attorney who is representing Butler, along with Joseph A. Blundon of Keyser, said this morning he will place Butler on the witness stand.

Other witnesses to be called for the defense, Ryan has indicated, are Betty Baker, address not listed; Charles Butler, Piedmont, son of the accused; Mrs. Virginia Strickler, Westernport, daughter of Butler; Mrs. John Grindle, sister of Butler; Mrs. John Bartlett, Piedmont, and Edith S. Boal, Westernport undertaker.

Courtroom Packed

Called as witnesses for the state have been Mrs. Bartlett, William Greenhorn, father of the victim; Dr. Paul R. Wilson, Piedmont; Eugene Keyes, Piedmont, chief of police at the time of Mrs. Sharon's death; West Virginia State Trooper C. C. Oliver; Maryland State Trooper Carlton W. Lewis; Harley Dixon, Piedmont; Donald Mellor, Piedmont, and Charles R. Spiker, present Piedmont chief of police.

These witnesses were sworn in a group yesterday by Clerk of Court James Dixon.

The courtroom was packed this morning, with onlookers standing in the aisles.

THE BLIND'S DREAM HOUSE

Instructress Mrs. Frieda Delwarte shows blind Arthur Bergman how to step off curb. Students at Institute are given course on "orientation in traffic."

Like students in other centers of learning, those at Braille Institute practice "fire drill" for use in event of a disaster. Jake Barris and Mrs. Kate Rubin, volunteer workers with good eyesight, lead group.

Braille Institute of America, social welfare center for the blind in Los Angeles, operates on the principle that sightlessness is a handicap that can be overcome with training. The Institute's theory is that life holds much in store for the blind, that optically defective men and women need only to be taught how to maintain their places in society, how to earn self-supportive livelihoods for themselves and how to be a useful part of their own households.

It takes four large buildings to house all its departments. In the recreation and education division, the blind engage in games, sing, dance, learn to walk with white canes even in traffic, study weaving, Braille study, typing, Bible study, knitting, ceramics and leather work. About 450 a week attend these classes.

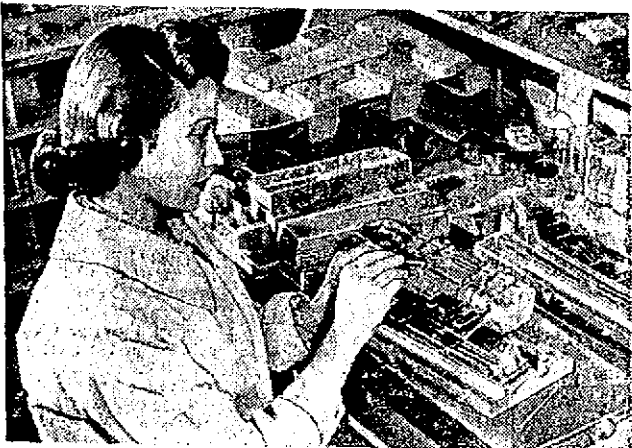

A social welfare department guides the blind in their business and professional careers, makes loans to buy homes or businesses, teaches home making, instructs in nursing and otherwise fits the blind to take part in life like other humans. It operates its own Braille printing plant.

All of its services are free, as the Institute is maintained by contributions, memberships and bequests.

How much difference does one player make?

It depends upon the club and the man, of course, but in the case of the Cincinnati Redlegs, it is taken almost for granted that Ted Kluszewski's prolonged absence from the lineup will be a shattering blow to Cincy's pennant ambitions.

So far, big Klus's back miseries have had less effect than expected. The Redlegs have won their last seven games, which doesn't leave much room for improvement.

Part of the slack has been taken up by good pitching and by the hot hitting of Don Hoak, but neither of those conditions can be counted upon to last until October.

You can't lose the powerful hitting of a fellow like Kluszewski for half a season or more, which the big guy seems likely to miss if he undergoes surgery, without feeling it deeply. George Crow, standing in for Klus, will hit the long ball occasionally, but he cannot carry the team as Kluszewski had been expected to do.

There's another aspect, too. When Crow has to be used regularly, Birdie Tebbels loses valuable bench strength. He has one less big bat available for pinch-hitting duty.

On the other hand, the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers have lost key men, too, but it is a measure of their reserve strength that they have not appeared greatly handicapped.

Pee Wee Reese, captain and shortstop of the Dodgers, has been out of the lineup all season because of back trouble. He's about ready to go again now, but manager Walter Alton is well enough satisfied with replacement Don Zimmer that he isn't rushing Pee Wee, who will be 38 in July.

Alton, in fact, can name half a dozen different ways he can juggle the lineup to keep both Zimmer and Reese in action.

Over the weekend, Yankee mound star Whitey Ford had to quit his chores in the second inning of Saturday's game with the Chicago White Sox and Mickey Monkle hobbled out of action Sunday.

The loss of such stars, even temporarily, would have spoiled the day for most managers. But not Casey Stengel. He just looked down the bench, beckoned in replacements and won both games.

In fact, the Yankees' weekend sweep over the White Sox, boosting them into first place, demonstrated convincingly just why they're likely to be there to stay.

Sports Keg Residue

In answer to a Cumberland boxing fan, Joe Louis successfully defended his heavyweight boxing title no less than 25 times. . . . Almost needlessly to report, that stands as a world record. . . . In fact, the Brown Bomber lost only once as a pro before retiring in 1949. Max Schmeling stopping him in the 12th round of a non-title bout. . . . Phil Zacko of Baltimore, the wrestling promoter who has been staging shows in Cumberland for the past few years, says he hopes to have Antonio Rocco as the headline attraction for the next program of the National Guard's Officers Club on June 7. . . . That show will probably be held outdoors at the Cumberland Fair Grounds. . . . Rocco is the top man on the popularity list of wrestling fans everywhere and is scheduled to appear in a Yankee Stadium summer bout against Ricki Starr who beat Japanese Oyamato Kato here last Friday at the State Armory. . . . Zacko says Rocco is also slated for another indoor appearance at New York's Madison Square Garden in two weeks. . . . One of his recent appearances there was a sellout, and two days after tickets went on sale for the coming bout, half of the house was sold, according to Zacko. . . . The Yankees' Hank Bauer, who entered the 1957 season with an even 1,000 hits and 500 runs batted in, has played in two "perfect games." . . . He was in the outfield for Kansas City, then of the American Association, when his teammate Carl DeRose hurled a perfect game against Minneapolis in 1947. . . . And Hank played right field when Don Larsen threw his miracle game against the Dodgers in the last World Series. . . . If there had been as much interest in the Fraternal Order of Eagles fielding a team in the Rocking Chair Softball League as there was at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, the Birds would not have had to give up their franchise. . . . No less than 67 employees of the glass firm turned out for the first practice session and on another occasion more than 40 showed up. . . . Willie Shoemaker, who did it last Saturday, is not the first jockey to misjudge the finish line in the Kentucky Derby.

'Chuck' Dressen Fired As Senators' Manager

Lavagetto Or Jurgens To Become Acting Pilot

DETROIT (AP) — Calvin Griffith said today he plans to relieve Charlie Dressen as manager of the last-place Washington Senators.

Griffith made an overnight trip from Washington where he had been quoted as saying he planned "drastic changes" after the Senators lost 8 straight games, 16 of their first 20.

Griffith at first refused to comment on a published report that he planned to fire the 58-year-old Dressen, now in his third season at the Senators' helm. Later he said "I don't know how the story got out—only a couple of people knew about it."

To Talk Today
He was asked about the report that he would offer Dressen a job as assistant to the president.

"Everything will have to wait until I talk with Chuck. He may not want what I'm going to offer him. I may not even talk with him until after today's game," Griffith said.

The Senators were scheduled to open a three-game series against the Detroit Tigers this afternoon. Griffith said "You have to make some kind of a move when things are going as badly as they are for us right now—and you can't muddle around—you have to make the move fast."

Dressen Shocked
"I'd have thought Calvin would have notified me if he planned to discuss something like that," said Dressen, 58, who piloted the Brooklyn Dodgers to a pair of National League pennants.

"The whole thing comes as a shock to me," he said after hearing that the Washington Post and Times Herald said it has "learned that Griffith's plan for drastic action includes the dismissal of Dressen and the promotion of one of the team's coaches, Billy Jurgens or Cookie Lavagetto, as manager with temporary status."

Dressen said he hasn't talked with the club's president since last Saturday.

"We were pretty close to swinging a couple of player deals then," Dressen explained, "but they fell through. These other clubs won't give us anything—but they'll take the four or five real solid players on our club. Hell, the rest of these guys are trying to get us to finish 16th in an eight-team league."

Orlows Send Beamon To Vancouver Club

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today sent pitcher Charles Beamon to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League on a 24-hour recall to make room for Tito Francona who was called up yesterday.

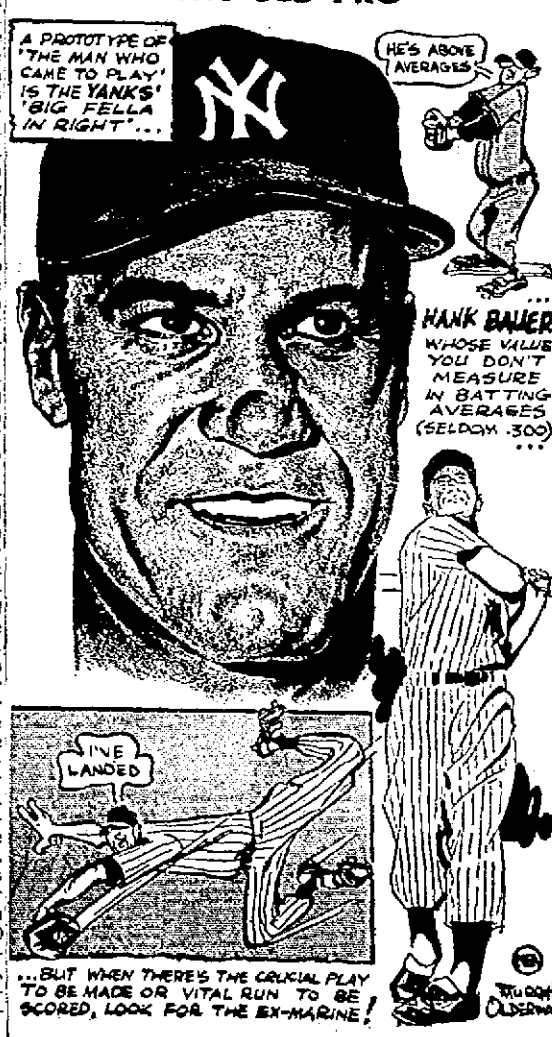

The 22-year-old right-hander, bought late last year from Vancouver, has not completed a game this season. In pitching 22-3 innings, he has struck out 5, walked 8 and given up 8 hits and 5 runs.

Simpson Tops Kansas City's Power Parade

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Manager Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City Athletics has a problem and it's simply this: how do you play six outfielders who have hit 17 home runs and batted in 56 counters in the team's first 19 games?

"I'm happy to have this problem," said Boudreau after the Athletics' 3-2 win over the Washington Senators. "I hope I have it with me all year."

Simpson Leads Parade

Leading the parade of slugging Athletic outfielders is veteran Harry Simpson, who is batting .384, second in the league, with 19 RBIs and 5 home runs.

Next comes Gus Zernial, the once feared home run hitter who in the past couple of seasons has been entirely too many curve ball pitchers. Gus has regained his old form and is hitting .279 with 13 RBIs and 4 home runs.

Lou Skizas, a .314 hitter last season, hit 5 home runs and batted in 10 tallies in the first 14 games and then was hit by a pitched ball. He's missed the last five games and will be out for another three days or so.

But the crux of the whole trouble lies with Jim Pisoni, a rookie who is a defensive wizard. Pisoni slugged a bases loaded homer yesterday. But his average, home run included, is .184.

No matter how poorly Pisoni hits, he is a major factor simply because he can field with the best. Some of the others in the outfield corps, to put it mildly, can't.

.350 Hitter On Bench

So when Skizas is ready to return to action, Boudreau must decide whether he'll gamble on power with Skizas, Zernial and Simpson, or bet that two of that trio can hit well enough to carry Pisoni at the plate.

Just to complicate things, there's a .350 hitter sitting on the bench, plus another man who's proved that he can hit in this league.

Bob Cerv has been at bat only 20 times this season, but he's collected seven hits, including one home, and driven in six runs. The other reserve is Irv Noren, who is handicapped by a recurring knee injury.

Here's a happy footnote: Shortstop Joe DeMaestri, not often mentioned among the league's most competent hitters, is batting .395 with 17 hits in 43 at bats.

Flag Hopeful Duke To End Season Today

By The Associated Press
Today's could be the most critical games of the season in the Atlantic Coast Conference's down-to-the-wire baseball race.

Duke, defending champion and now on top of the league with a 10-3 conference record, faced North Carolina State in the final game of the season for the Blue Devils.

North Carolina, No. 2 in the league with an 8-3 mark, faced Wake Forest in the first of the Tar Heels' final three conference games that could mean the 1957 championship.

Should Duke win, North Carolina would have to take all three of its games for a tie and should the Blue Devils lose, then North Carolina would have to win three for the title or two for a playoff.

In yesterday's action, all non-conference, Maryland defeated Georgetown, 12-2; Clemson defeated Georgia Tech, 5-0; and Wake Forest defeated the semi-pro McCrary Eagles 5-1.

Maryland hitters laced Georgetown for 20 hits and Maryland's nimble-footed first baseman, Howie Dare, set an ACC season record by stealing bases in the Terrapins' victory.

Dare, who tied the stolen base record with his 21st Saturday against Duke, broke it when he swiped a base in the first inning yesterday, then broke it again in the seventh, making the new mark.

The Elks team will include all boys who formerly played with the Yankees and the following newcomers: Thomas Tomlinson, Robert Lashley, Kenneth Robeson, Daniel Muir, Robert Thompson, James Lash, William Cole, John Marshall and William Wright. This group will report to manager Edward Langhan at Little League Park 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

All former members of the Sox and the following boys will report to manager Francis Falkinburg of the Eagles team at Little League Field on Wednesday 6 p.m.:

Robert Wellings, Patrick Flanagan, John David Michaels, Darrell Wampler and William Edwards Vogel.

Moorefield And Circleville Remain Undeclared In PVC

Moorefield and Circleville kept their unblemished records intact in the Potomac Valley Conference by posting victories yesterday.

Moorefield, scoring in bunches, smothered Circleville, 25 to 13, and Elk Garden nosed out Romney, 8-6. The Jackets have scored eight straight wins and the Elks seven. The Elks can tie Moorefield by beating West Virginia Deaf today.

Franklin edged Petersburg, 6-5, in a third Monday game. Donnie Schell and Don Ferber, clouted three-run homers for Moorefield, while Jim Vetter, Harry Fitzwater and Ferber had three hits apiece. Bland and W. Bennett all bled three safeties for Circleville.

Lester Hyre got credit for the win, his fourth. Jack Yokum was the loser.

Tommy Melavee gained the nod over Lefty Liller as Elk Garden swept its season series with Romney. Liller fanned nine and Melavee eight. The latter's win was his third.

Liller accounted for three of Romney's nine safeties. Cessna, of Elk Garden and Dewaine Murie, set an ACC season record by stealing bases in the Terrapins' victory.

Gus Smith's Franklin Panthers notched their fourth win in six games by topping Petersburg, 10-2. It was Stan Dahmer's second victory over the Vikings this season and the win gave him a season mark of 2-2.

Roger Keplingner went the route for the Vikings. He yielded nine hits, including a live-for-five performance by Joe Rhudy, and moved down 14 via the strikeout route.

Jim Conrad, leading hitter in the PVC broke up the game in the top of the ninth frame, when he doubled home Rhudy after the latter had singled and pilfered second.

Huffman, Sherman, Sites and Keplingner shared Petersburg's eight hits.

Stu Holcomb Levels Off On College Prexy

BY TONY GALLI

NEW YORK (INS) — A prominent Big Ten athletic official struck back at critics of college athletics today by claiming that athletes generally have higher grades than non-athletes and contribute heavily to campus life.

Stu Holcomb, athletic director of Northwestern University, spearheaded a wave of criticism over remarks by Stanford University president J. E. Wallace Sterling in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

Sterling maintained that financial aid to college athletes is threatening America's high academic standards and that college should restore the kind of strict amateurism that Stanford and the Ivy League strive to maintain.

Requirements Strict
"I certainly don't question President Sterling's right to criticize college athletes," said Holcomb, "but I question the criticism." Holcomb continued:

"All athletes are students and must pass the same entrance exams as anyone else. Athletes then will find for the most part that requirements for matriculation are strict and far more rigid than for the non-athlete."

"The athlete, as a group, may not have many on the honor roll but there are always some. And by comparison, the student body's grade average is generally one or two points lower than the athletes' average. This has been true at four universities with which I have been connected as coach—Miami of Ohio, Army, Purdue and Northwestern."

Holcomb was especially critical of Sterling's contention that "where athletes receive financial aid because they are athletes and not because of any other qualifications, they are being paid for their athletic ability. This is professionalism," said the Stanford president, "and the more they pay the greater the degree of professionalism." Said Holcomb:

"I don't know just what definition you care to choose to determine an amateur but surely a code established by the AAU or Olympic Committee for participation is one held in high regard. Here a performer can receive expenses. One cent above this makes him a professional. There can be no degree of professionalism."

"College athletes possess a special ability similar to that which most universities seek for glue clubs, bands, speech departments, news editors and other campus activities. These facilities add to the campus life and enjoyment of students, faculties and alumni."

Hits At Ivy League
Holcomb also took a swipe at the Ivy League by saying: "I believe almost all universities abide by the 'expenses only' extension of aid. Those universities extending aid above expenses are few, if any, in number and if caught, are dealt with by their own conference enforcement or the NCAA. I am sure president Sterling will find many fine students at Stanford and the Ivy League with athletic ability, receiving aid."

Not at the Ivy schools, according to Columbia University athletic director Ralph Furey, "All colleges recruit, certainly," said Furey. "Nobody does more than the Ivy League and Eastern independents. But we offer no athletic scholarships nor financial aid of any kind. We get boys who are able athletes and also good students."

Some of Sterling's biggest critics are from his own Pacific Coast Conference. UCLA, one of three PCC schools in the doghouse for infractions which included "under the table" financial aid, contends athletes should receive scholarships.

"If athletes need financial help to become good students," says athletic director Wilbur Johns, "then this help should be given. We offer scholarships in athletics just as we offer them in other fields."

Cites 'Common Sense'
California isn't on the PCC "dishonor" list because it believes in keeping financial assistance to athletes "within the confines of common sense."

"There is a trend toward assistance to athletes," says California athletic director Gregory F. Englehard, "but I don't think it has reached the point where it actually jeopardizes the country's academic standards."

Southeastern Conference commissioner Bernie Moore says: "We've had grants in aid since 1933 and we don't care what anybody says or thinks or does, we're going to continue to use the grants. We think the grant system is a fine system and do not believe that by using it, we are making paid athletes out of college boys."

"If I were Sterling," says North Carolina coach Jim Tatum, "I would hesitate to say what other peoples' programs are like because I'm pretty certain he can't know what they are."

"Double trouble" resulted in the Fort Hill High Sentinels suffering their first baseball defeat of the season yesterday as Allegany eked out a 7-6 victory at Campobello to knot the Sentinels for first place in the Allegany County League.

Eddie Weaver, Page smacked a pair of two-baggers for the losers.

The win gave Allegany a 2-0 record in the city championship race. Fort Hill is 1-1 and LaSalle 0-2. The Campers and Sentinels now are 5-1 in the county title race. Yesterday's triumph was Allegany's first over Fort Hill since the final game of the 1954 season.

Bruce scored seven runs in the last of the seventh frame and fell short one run of tying the score in the game with Valley.

Clifford Preston got credit for the win while Donnie Wilkinson was the loser.

Johnny Johnson and Preston sparked Valley's attack with three hits each. One of Johnson's blows was a homer with two aboard in the fourth. Morris, Isel and Bennet collected two hits each for Bruce Hill.

Valley tops Bruce
Alcorn went one for three yesterday as Bruce dropped a 12-11 slugfest to Valley at Westport, the Black Knights bunched all of their runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Jesse Markley, who is generally razor sharp with his control, walked five batters in going the route for Fort Hill and was tagged for 11 safeties. Bruce, Brode and Ken Johnson all had two hits in addition to Diehl's three.

Yesterday's game was the fourth straight extra-inning tilt in which the Campers have participated and it was their third straight win. They lost to Mt. Savage in ten innings on April 26 by the score of 3-2 then beat LaSalle 10-9 in 10 innings, Valley, 8-7 in nine and Fort Hill 7-6 in nine.

Bob Paye, George Hale and Gene Cave worked in that order on the mound for the Campers and Cave got credit for the win, his second against one defeat.

Four of Fort Hill's ten hits were shared by Walter Hillegas and

Slade D. Cutter
Returns To Navy As Athletic Boss

ANNAPOLIS Md. — Capt. Slade D. Cutter, who kicked the 20-yard field goal which beat Army 3-0 in 1934, reports to the Naval Academy in August as the new director of athletics.

He will succeed Capt. C. Elliott Loughlin, who is rounding out the usual three-year tour of duty here.

Cutter, a 1935 graduate of the academy from Oswego, Ill., won three letters each in football and boxing. He was a tackle on the football team and as a heavy-weight boxer was undefeated in 22 bouts.

Currently commander of Submarine Squadron Six in the Atlantic, Capt. Cutter had a distinguished record in undersea warfare during World War II. His subs accounted for 19 enemy ships and his list of decorations include the Navy Cross, with gold stars in lieu of second, third and fourth Navy Crosses, the Silver Star and the Presidential Unit Citation. He received the latter for "extraordinary heroism" as commander of the submarine Seahorse.

Potomac Tops Bobcats, 12-7

A six-run spurge in the eighth inning enabled Potomac State to score a 12-7 victory over Frostburg State Teachers yesterday at the Midland Ball Park.

It was the 12th straight time a Calamont baseball team has conquered the Bobcats.

Twenty-four hits were chalked up by the teams in the opening game of their season series. Anthony Deligatti and Gerald Bodnar shared six of Potomac's 11 safeties. John Keister, Frostburg catcher-pitcher, slammed a three-run homer in the first inning and also rapped a single.

Carl Donald, Dorell Kline, Arch Lennox and Doug Sullivan also collected two hits each for the Bobcats.

Jim Michael, who twirled 7 2/3 frames, got credit for the win, his third against a single loss, and Potomac State's seventh in ten outings. The loss was charged to Hugh Nolan, his fourth against no wins. Frostburg has won one game and lost five.

Hartack May Ride 'General' In Preakness

BY JOHN BARRINGTON
(INS Sports Editor)

LOUISVILLE — (INS) — Jockey Willie Hartack is a little man with a big problem, but it is one that every other race rider in the land would like to have.

He must decide between now and May 14 whether to stick with Iron Liege, the horse with which he won an unexpected Kentucky Derby victory, or switch back to Gen. Duke, his first love in the Calumet barn, if that colt is sound for the Preakness.

The 25-year-old rider, leading winner among U. S. jockeys the past two years, took the mount on Iron Liege when Gen. Duke was scratched on Derby Morning because of a bruised left forefoot. Iron Liege won by a nose over Gallant Man, but he still is without honor in his own stable.

Hartack remains convinced Gen. Duke is a better horse, and so does Ben Jones, Calumet general manager who trained six Derby winners, and his son, Jimmy, who finally was credited with saddling his first.

Surprises Willie
"Iron Liege sure surprised me," said Hartack, "I didn't think he had much chance. But he gave me a remarkable ride—much better than I thought he could. When Gallant Man came up on him in the stretch, he kept digging and pulled it out."

Hartack didn't think he ever was behind once he made his move coming into the home turn and passed fading Bold Ruler, the favorite, which finished fourth, and Federal Hill, the early pacesetter, which was fifth.

But the official chart maker said Gallant Man pulled ahead for an instant less than a hundred yards from the finish line. It was here that Willie Shoemaker on Gallant Man became confused, thought the race was over, eased up for a flick of an eyelash—and possibly lost it.

The Derby will go down in memory as the coldest in probably 30 years, the coldest in 24 and also the one of Shoemaker's famous mistakes. But it shouldn't be called a purely lucky win for Iron Liege. Hartack had some misfortune of his own going into the last turn. He tried to go inside Federal Hill, couldn't find room and had to check his mount and go around.

Prefers Gen. Duke
Iron Liege lost at least as much ground as Gallant Man did later. Before the Preakness, Hartack hopes Gen. Duke can be tested in a lesser race. If the Duke is sound, Hartack says he'd prefer to ride him. At the moment, there seems considerable doubt whether Gen. Duke will be ready for the Pimlico event.

Jimmy Jones indicated that he would be, but his father made it plain he'd rather keep him out. With the temperature in the 40s and a cold wind blowing, the crowd was down to about 80,000, and the mutual handle on the (Continued on Page 15)

Ward's Amateur Status At Stake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A formal investigation into the amateur standing of two-time National Golf Champion Harvie Ward appeared likely today after grand jury testimony by his employer that he paid Ward's expenses to two eastern tournaments in 1953.

An official of the United States Golf Assn., which supervises Amateur play, predicted the group's amateur status and conduct committee probably would ask Ward for a formal statement "very soon."

USGA rules expressly forbid accepting expenses "from any source other than one on whom the player is normally or legally dependent but excluding an employer." The USGA's Northern California director, Stuart Healey, said if Ward accepted the expenses, he "definitely breached his amateur standing."

San Francisco automobile dealer Edward E. Lowery told the grand jury that he took Ward to Ontario, Canada, where he won the 1954 Canadian Amateur Championship.

"Then," Lowery confided, "we went to Detroit to play in the U.S. Amateur Championship." The auto dealer said Ward was his guest as a reward for "good work as a salesman."

Lew Burdette Mad Enough To Spit After Braves Lose

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

Lew Burdette was mad enough today to spit. And so were the rest of the Milwaukee Braves.

The ball took a crazy bounce yesterday at the most inopportune moment, depriving Burdette of his fourth victory and the Braves of a 4-3 triumph over Brooklyn.

Instead, the Dodgers went on to win 5-4 in 14 innings to gain a split in their two-game series at Ebbets Field.

Here's what happened. The Dodgers were at bat in the 12th, trailing 4-3, two out, runners on first and second and Carl Furillo the batter.

Burdette, who had overcome a 3-0 deficit and a warning from plate umpire Lee Ballanfant after nearly decapitating Roy Campanella with a pitch, was getting along swimmingly. Since the first inning, when Carl Furillo smashed a three-run homer, the Dodgers hadn't come within spitting distance of a run. Burdette disposed of the first two batters easily but Gino Cimoli clubbed a double for his fourth hit.

Oh, That Crazy Bounce! Sandy Amoros walked on a 3-2 pitch but the game apparently was over when Furillo sent a bouncer to shortstop. Just as Johnny Logan got set to field the ball, it took a bad hop over his head and Cimoli raced home with the tying run.

In the 14th, Cimoli crashed a pitch by reliever Red Murff into the left field stands for a home run to break up the overtime tussle.

The Dodger victory went to Sandy Koufax.

In the only other game in the National League, the Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Giants 6-2 to move into a seventh place tie with Pittsburgh. Young Don Kaiser hurled a six-hitter for his first victory of the year.

Kansas City, the early season surprise of the American League, broke a three-way tie for fourth place with an 8-2 victory over Washington. Baltimore dropped Detroit into sixth place, defeating the Tigers 8-6 in 13 innings.

Pistol Hills Grand-Slam

A six-run first inning, highlighted by rookie outfielder Jim Pisoni's grand slam homer, made it easy for Ned Garver to register his second victory with a six-hitter. Chuck Stobbs, who has yet to win, lasted just one inning and was charged with his fifth setback.

Jim Bredeweser, sold last season by Detroit to Baltimore, gained revenge with a 13th-inning double that drove in Gus Triandos and Dick Williams with the tie-breaking runs. Williams had driven two runs with a bases-loaded single in the eighth to tie the score 6-6.

The victory went to George Zuverink, Jack Crimian, fifth Tiger hurler, was the loser.

A four-run explosion by Chicago in the sixth chased Giant starter Ruben Gomez. Ed Winciak, rookie infielder, and Lee Walls, drove in two runs each for the Cubs.

Duke's Sime New Batting ACC Leader

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—

Duke's Dave Sime, who passed up baseball last spring to concentrate on track, today is the new batting leader in the Atlantic Coast Conference with an average of .421.

Sime, who holds two world track records and has matched a third, has collected 32 hits in 76 official games at bat, including seven doubles, one triple, three home runs and 12 runs batted in.

According to ACC service bureau figures through last Saturday's games, Sime also tops the conference with his seven doubles and is tied for second in home runs.

Don Hafer of N. C. State leads homer hitting with four. Al Baker, Bill Barnes and John Stokoe of Wake Forest and Bob Hardy of Virginia have hit three homers each.

Sime replaces teammate Pete Maynard, who slipped slightly to .412 but still holds second. The No. 3 batter also is a Duke player, shortstop Lon Bonczek at .391.

Maryland's Howie Dare, who has dropped out of the leading batter list, nevertheless has batted the conference record for stolen bases at 21. Dare stole two against Duke last Friday to match the record, stealing home for the fourth time this season. He broke the record yesterday with two more steals.

Dick Burton of Duke leads ACC pitching with a 5-1 record and an earned run average of 1.27. Harleigh Fatzinger of Duke is 4-1, Jim Raugh of North Carolina 6-2, and Dickie Smallwood of Duke 5-2.

From late Sept. 30, 1938 to Sept. 29, 1945, umpire Lon Warneke appeared in 163 games and handled 227 fielding chances flawlessly. He was a National League pitcher.

Georgia Tech's 1956-1957 basketball team broke nine team and 19 individual school records.

Birds Without Richards, Two Players Hurt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles opened a two-game series with the Athletics today with three familiar faces missing from the field and two others appearing unexpectedly.

The missing faces belong to Manager Paul Richards and infielders George Kell and Wayne Causey. Those who appeared unexpectedly were outfielder Tito Francona and catcher Tommy Patton.

Richards was missing as a result of a three-day suspension and $50 fine levied yesterday by American League president Will Harridge as a result of a run-in with umpire Ed Hurley in Detroit Saturday night.

Kell is in hospital today after being beamed by a pitch thrown by pitcher Steve Gromek in the eighth inning of yesterday's game.

Causey was to fly here from Detroit today. He remained behind yesterday for X-rays after being struck by a line drive off the bat of the Tigers' Red Wilson.

The Orioles recalled Francona from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. He played all of last season with the Birds and the first week of this season.

Patton was on his way to San Antonio yesterday and had reached Chicago when the club told him to report to Kansas City. Apparently another club put a claim on the young catcher after the Orioles asked waivers on him and the Orioles then withdrew the waivers.

End Losing Streak

Despite all the personnel shuffling, Baltimore ended a four-game losing streak yesterday by beating the Tigers, 8-6, on Jim Bredeweser's first hit of the season, a double in the 13th inning. The hit scored Gus Triandos and Dick Williams.

George Zuverink, who held the Tigers scoreless for seven innings in relief of Ray Moore, was the winning pitcher.

Kell suffered a mild brain concussion as a result of the beaning. It was expected he would remain in the hospital through tomorrow. Causey said last night he had recovered from the dizziness which bothered him after being struck by the liner.

The injuries not only deprived the Orioles of their leading hitter, Kell, but created a serious infield problem. Rookie third baseman Brooks Robinson is on the disabled list as a result of a knee operation.

Harridge's telegram to Richards informing the manager of the fine and suspension said it was being levied because Richards used foul and obscene language and bumped Hurley.

"It's a page out of Russia," Richards commented. Hurley spits on me, hits me with his mask and pushes me all over the field and I'm the one they suspend."

SPARKLE GONE

CAMDEN, N. J.—(NEA)—Woodland Farm's Blue Sparkler, top mare of 1956, has been retired. The 5-year-old could not stand training.

From late Sept. 30, 1938 to Sept. 29, 1945, umpire Lon Warneke appeared in 163 games and handled 227 fielding chances flawlessly. He was a National League pitcher.

LITTLE SPORT

Los Angeles Set To Build Dodger Park

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Los Angeles County cleared another legal hurdle today in its headlong rush to grab the Brooklyn Dodgers and deposit them in Southern California for the opening of the 1958 big league baseball season.

The county's legal counsel, Harold W. Kennedy, issued a 20-page opinion that the county has clear legal authority to buy and operate a facility in which to present professional baseball games.

This meant that the county, acting jointly with the city, would have a perfect right to acquire land in Chavez Ravine, near the Central Los Angeles district, to sell to the Brooklyn Dodgers for a proposed 10 million dollar baseball park.

May Trade Wrigley Field

When president Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers visited Los Angeles last week, city and county officials reported that he indicated in talks with them that he would be more than happy to erect a new big league home for the Bums in Chavez Ravine.

The officials said one probability is that O'Malley would trade Wrigley Field, which he bought in a three-million dollar deal last year, for the Chavez Ravine property.

O'Malley bought the field, its stadium and the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League in the transaction, but does not believe the stadium would be adequate for big league ball.

Of course, a new stadium at Chavez Ravine could not be ready for opening of the 1958 season. But O'Malley said the huge Los Angeles Coliseum could be altered slightly to house major league ball until the Chavez Ravine plant was ready.

'Frisco Meeting Set

The ruling by Kennedy also meant that the city and county could erect a stadium. But under the verbal agreements with O'Malley, it was understood that he would build the stadium and other facilities, while the city and county would make the site available and construct the necessary roads.

Los Angeles fans, whose hopes for a big league team have been fanned so high that they regard it now virtually as a certainty, took further comfort in the news that mayor George Christopher of San Francisco this week will confer with O'Malley.

Christopher talked with O'Malley in Los Angeles last week, apparently on the possibility of big league ball for the San Francisco area as well as the Los Angeles area.

GINO CIMOLI

Player Of Day

Gino Cimoli Enjoys Best Day As 'Bum'

By International News Service

Gino Cimoli has a pet expression, "You better believe it," and he very likely is repeating it endlessly to himself today.

The Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, who enjoyed the finest game in his brief major league career last night, and it looks as though he finally will stick after struggling for seven years to reach the big time.

The native San Franciscan fielded in for regular center fielder Duke Snider, the NL home run king, against Milwaukee and made five hits in seven at bats against league-leading Milwaukee.

The 8-foot-2, 190-pound lad won the game in the 14th with a homer and also scored the tying run in the 12th.

It has been a long road to the major leagues for the 27-year-old Dodger.

He started with Nashua of the New England League in 1949 and then spent the next six years ripening endlessly in AAA and AA ball.

Autumn Television Outlook: Many Programs' Fate Still Hangs In Balance

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK — All three major networks are still working overtime shuffling and reshuffling their autumn schedules, trying to find the right mix of new shows, and the fall fate of many a program still hangs in the balance. But, as matters stand this morning, there will be a lot of changes made.

As of this writing, the decision of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz to stop grinding out new weekly adventures of I Love Lucy still stands, but CBS will rerun some of the popular shows in a new spot, Wednesdays.

Desi and Lucille would like to do it once a month, hourlong I Love Lucy but CBS hasn't yet found a sponsor willing to pick up the check for the film, priced at $300,000 a shot.

There is still no solution concerning the television future of Jackie Gleason or his show, and the time has been filled with an hour film, Perry Mason, based on the Erle Stanley Gardner books. No one knows, either, what happens to Robert Montgomery or Sid Caesar, and now it looks as if Ray Bolger's Washington Square series may get the ax.

After years and years, Roy Rogers will no longer be riding and fighting on Sunday evening. Private Secretary will make way for a new series called Slezak and Sons. Both Bengal Lancers and Sir Lancelot will permanently fold their tents.

NBC's early evening 15 minutes now holding Jonathan Winters, Xavier Cugat, Nat King Cole and Dinah Shore, will be dispersed. Only Dinah, with a big variety show modeled on her last season's hourlong variety shows, knows what the future holds.

Former 'Hit Parader': Dorothy Collins Eying Sid Caesar Wife Role

By ATRA BAER
NEW YORK — (INS) — Relations have reportedly been strained recently between Marilyn Monroe and her business associate, Milton Greene.

But never fear, Milton is still much in demand. The lady who wants to hire him the most is Dorothy Collins.

Dorothy, who recently struck out of the "Hit Parade," has been having confabs with Greene concerning the possibility of developing a new personality—complete with glamor photos and the whole stinky-but-wholesome bit.

Miss Collins figures it's high time to burn those blues with the noose-high necklines. She wants to take the plunge.

She's also shopping for a number of summer shows where she won't sing but will have a chance to do drama and comedy roles.

Why? Because Dorothy would not mind being Sid Caesar's next "wife." That's why. And if Sid decides he's in the matrimonial market, Dorothy would be a logical and highly talented candidate.

Last week's Kaiser Aluminum flour drama "Nightcourt" received such favorable response from viewers that it'll be repeated in September.

Arnold Stang and producer Parke Levy have a series in the works. Stang won't star, however. Levy feels he'll "show to better advantage" in a second banana role.

Peggy McCay, formerly of the sudopera "Love Of Life," will star as a nurse in a forthcoming series by playwright Sidney Kingsley titled "World In White."

Firemen Battle Blaze At B&O

South End firemen yesterday battled a blaze when a large pile of discarded oil filters from Diesel engines ignited in the vicinity of the construction work by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad below Elyts Creek.

Firemen were on the scene nearly two hours before reporting back to the station. From 400 to 500 filters were in the pile, firemen reported, and it was undetermined just how the blaze started.

Firemen were told the discarded filters are used as warning lights at night. Sparks from a brush fire in the general area may have touched off the blaze, firemen said.

Water was pumped from the nearby creek to extinguish the flames. The utility truck from Central Fire Station was sent to the scene with a 2½-inch fog nozzle and foam mixture used effectively on such fires. However, the firemen were able to quench the flames with water. The call was received at 4:05 p. m.

Coal and oil are products of decomposed plant life. Limestone is derived from skeletons of sea life.

Noted AP Writer Speaker Tonight

C. Yates McDaniel, foreign correspondent for the Associated Press who is stationed in Washington, will address the Allegany County Branch of the Association for Childhood Education, International, tonight at Ali Ghani Shrine Country Club.

More than 125 reservations have been made for the dinner event starting at 6:30 p. m., according to Raymond Skidmore, local ACEI president.

100 Acres Timberland Burned In Garrett Fire

A fire in Garrett County on Elder Hill west of McHenry yesterday destroyed 100 acres of timberland before being brought under control by 40 fire fighters.

District Forester William H. Johnson said the fire started about 1 p. m. yesterday. It was brought under control by the fire fighters several times, only to have high and changing winds whip up the flames again. It was finally controlled about 8 p. m.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Woman is baffled by adolescent stepson's capacity for creating trail of disorder.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Over a year ago I married Paul, a wonderful man who has a son, now 19, by a former marriage—I'll call him Larry.

My husband and I both like a clean neat home; but we have difficulty with Larry about keeping things orderly. We dread to go away for any length of time, because on our return we find the rooms looking as if a tornado had passed through them.

Clothing and other articles of daily usage are scattered everywhere, out of place. Freshly ironed garments have been tried on, rejected as unsatisfactory and left on beds or chairs. Shoes are left on the table. And towels and washcloths are dropped on the bathroom floor.

I've tried to ignore the disorder, in the hope that Larry would realize he is big enough now to pick up after himself; but so far I've had no luck.

Our furniture is nice, but bears the marks of Larry's greasy hands—which he persists in wiping on the furniture. I've never before been confronted with a situation like this, and don't know how to cope with it.

Many times Paul has asked

Larry to pick up, and clean up, after himself—which always makes Larry so angry that the subject has to be dropped.

Is this a natural thing to expect? Am I being unfair in expecting some consideration and cooperation? I know a lot depends on me, and I've tried and am trying to be a good stepmother. Please advise me.—S. K.

DEAR S. K.: To a large extent, perhaps. Some people are naturally more inclined that way than others.

But by the time a person is 19 years of age, if he is developing normally, and has a healthy personality, he should be able to conquer a natural tendency towards untidiness—if necessary to conform to household rules; or if he is in a group situation (say an Army barracks) where neatness is the obligatory standard, rigorously enforced.

If Larry were doing a stint in the armed forces, where a man is expected to fit into a pattern of routine order and spit-and-polish, and carry his end of things, he'd mighty soon learn to pick up after himself. And learn, also, to swallow his tempers if verbally jumped on by higher authority for failing to please.

It is a common experience for parents of "sloppy Joes" to observe, with amazement, that a term of service in the military establishment can drill habits of neatness into sons who'd been apparently untouchable on that score at home. I suppose it is the overwhelming weight of mass example, the pressure of tradition, the emotional detachment of the governing forces, that flattens the resistance of stubborn slabs.

Larry's poor performance—a boorish abuse of filial privilege—refers to a grudge-fight against somebody, I think. Maybe he had difficulties with his mother; or did she walk out on the family?

Or does he resent his father's having married again?

I surmise that Larry is a problem-personality in more ways than one. In general, a dirty disliking adolescent, who leaves a trail of defiant disorder in a household, is emotionally off-base. He is picking on the mother, probably, in a disturbed, disorganized, destructive spirit—not knowing why.

As I see your situation, Larry is at fault, but compulsively so. Thus it appears that you need first-hand psychiatric counsel to help you make the best of things, and safeguard the marriage against futile dissension—and maybe steer Larry towards emotional health.

In the town through which you write, there is a state-operated training school, where specialists help may be found. Or your pastor might be a sage adviser. Or you might get guidance from social welfare agencies in the state capital.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of The Evening Times.

TELEVISION... THE

SENSATION

OF THE NATION!

Yes—Television is a sensational discovery, but there are many families who aren't getting the benefits of Television.

Quite a few families have rooftop TV antennas which is a definite liability during electrical storms. You're not only safer when you get on the Cable, but you also enjoy better, clearer pictures from 4 networks with no duplicate programming.

Here in Cumberland there's no comparison between TV pictures you get from a rooftop antenna, and those made possible by a connection to the Cable. The rooftop antenna, no matter how elaborate and expensive, can't strengthen a weak signal the way the Cable TV company does.

Summing up—for clear, dependable reception, why not become a subscriber of Cable TV and see for yourself the difference you will experience.

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "lumpy" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to act as a normal trigger to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only Coloman, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAL's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAL's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight. COLONAL is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAL neither eggs, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAL exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAL, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Liquor Board Sets Hearing For Two Cases

Two remonstrance hearings have been set by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners for Tuesday, May 21 starting at 10 a.m.

Residents near premises at 800 Williams Street, object to issuance of an off sale beer license to Joseph L. Snyder. The property is the former J. J. Snyder service station. They cited the nearness of Fort Hill High School and Constitution Park.

Over 100 residents of the 1000 block on Oldtown Road have protested issuance of an on and off sale beer and wine license to Kathleen Seaders and Thomas O'Toole for premises at 1000 Oldtown Road. The premises were formerly occupied by the Allegany Instrument Company. Lack of suitable parking space and also the location of several other similar establishments was cited in the remonstrance filed.

Walter C. Capper, who had been scheduled to step down as of today's session of the board, will continue to serve until the commission of Estel C. Kelley, local attorney and member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, arrives.

Kelley said today that he will submit his formal resignation to the governor as a delegate prior

Construction Strike Seen Near Its End

Some Unions Reach Agreement With Baltimore Builders

BALTIMORE — The multi-pronged strike of union construction workers in the Baltimore area shows signs of crumbling, but a hard core of resistance to a settlement remains.

The walkout, which has stopped heavy construction projects within 25 miles of Baltimore, began April 1.

Eleven or more different unions are concerned with the heavy construction industry. Some—but not all—struck. But the rest have respected the picket lines and stayed off the job.

Contract Reached

Late last week, the steel erectors and iron workers agreed to a two-year contract calling for raises of 15, 10 and 15 cents in eight-month periods. Their previous base pay was not available immediately.

The largest of the trade unions, the laborers, met last night to discuss their negotiations with the Associated General Contractors, representing the builders. Some of the laborers reportedly are working on minor jobs, but the majority have struck.

The laborers, making a base of $1.80 an hour, first asked for a 35-cent raise, then lowered the figure to 20 cents an hour in a one-year contract. The companies first offered a three-year agreement keyed to the cost of living, then raised the offer to three five-cent increases spaced every eight months in a two-year contract.

All Must Agree

Carpenters, making $2.95, asked a 55-cent hike, and cement finishers, with the same base pay, asked for 40 cents and several extras. The contractors offered seven, eight and 10 cents in eight-month periods in a two-year pact.

It appeared fairly certain that until all unions agree with the contractors on terms, little construction will proceed.

The tie-up has affected Annapolis, as well as Baltimore. For example, work was stopped on a large food market, a building on the St. John's campus and a National Academy project there. Both union and management sources here said there was no reason to think projects in the outlying areas would be resumed before those in Baltimore.

About the only building going on in the area was in home building. Few home builders use straight union help.

Jesse Whitacre, pastor of the Church of the Brethren of New Cumberland, Ind., will officiate and burial will be in Philips Cemetery, Westernport.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Markwood Funeral Home.

Rev. John MacLeod, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will officiate and interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

County Gets Flag Used At White House

An American flag which has been flown over the White House in Washington has been presented to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for use atop the Court House.

Commissioner James Orr presented the flag today on behalf of the Woman's Republican Club of Cumberland, U.S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall obtained the flag for the GOP group. It is five by eight feet.

Resolutions of appreciation were ordered drawn up today by the board to be presented to Dr. Karl W. Kolb, dentist with the Allegany County Health Department and Miss Ann Hardy and Mrs. Rose Loble, public health nurses with the department, who are retiring.

Marvin Windle and Roland Varner appeared before the board to ask that something be done about the dusty condition of Avenue Y in Potomac Park. They said motorists speeding on the street cause clouds of dust to rise. The board said the avenue would be considered in the forthcoming paving program by the County Roads Department.
